6 Southern States Must Act by Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to interfere with the ordered integration of all public schools in six southern states by next fall. The court made no comment as it announced rejection of a request by six Louisiana school boards that implementation of the March 29 ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans be delayed until an appeal is made to the high court.

The Justice Department had opposed the request for delay. It characterized the move as an effort to put off "realization of a constitutional right announced 13 years ago." This referred to the historic May 1954 Supreme Court ruling that separate educational facilities are "inherently unequal."

Feared 'Chaos'
The request was filed at the high court last Wednesday by the school boards of Caddo, Bossier, Jackson, Calcasieu and East Baton Rouge parishes (counties) and the city of Monroe. They claimed immediate enforcement of the circuit court ruling would "create great chaos."

The boards said schools might have to be relocated and contracts for teachers voided.

The department said the boards had failed to show they would suffer "irreparable harm." If the circuit court ruling were held up, the department said, "significant progress in public school desegregation" in Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas could be postponed a year.

The 8-4 circuit court decision called for integration of public schools in the six states from kindergarten up at the start of the fall term. The ruling applies to students, teachers, school transportation and school-related activities.

The circuit court also adopted guidelines set by the department of health, education and welfare for school systems that accept federal funds.

Flee Prison to See Governor

Convicts Get Audience With Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Among the throngs of well-dressed Georgians at Gov. Lester Maddox's first open house Sunday were four shabbily dressed Negroes — escaped prisoners with a story to tell the governor.

The four said they sawed through bars at a Wilkinson County public works camp at midnight Saturday and walked all night to complain personally to the governor about prison treatment.

Waited in Line
They told Maddox of threats on their lives, of being put in solitary confinement for complaining, and of going six to eight days with only one meal.

Clad in faded sports shirts and ill-fitting overalls, with prison garb underneath, the Negroes waited in a line of more than 4,000 Georgians gathered to greet the governor at the mansion.

The prisoners' first pleas were unheeded. Maddox, busily shaking hands and chatting with visitors, missed the rapidly mumbled plea of Mrs. Albert Hill, mother of one of the prisoners.

"They're prisoners, they walked all night," Mrs. Hill said. But the governor already had turned to greet other guests.

Mrs. Maddox, however, thought she had heard the word "prisoner" and asked a nearby state patrolman to check. He did and called the governor.

After talking about 20 minutes

with the men, Maddox said he was ordering the "most thorough investigation ever conducted by the Department of Corrections."

"These men told me they had planned to escape because of cruel treatment, of going six to eight days with only one meal," the governor said at a news conference.

"They had planned two weeks ago to escape. They wanted to surrender to me. They sawed through bars and walked away."

I'm convinced there's considerable truth to this.

'Tried Everything'
"These men said they had tried everything else. They had even been put in a hole for complaining. I'm glad they did come," Maddox said.

Although the governor said the men walked from the prison camp at Irwinton to Jackson, the distance is about 70 miles. Another source said the men walked and hitchhiked.

Robert Carter, associate director of the Department of Corrections, said the men are being held in an Atlanta jail and have not yet been questioned. He said an investigation would be made, but it would take several days.

"I talked with the warden at the prison camp, briefly," he said. "But I did not ask him about the charges of cruel treatment. We expect to question him thoroughly later."

The warden, R. T. Bridges, could not be reached by newsmen.

"We wanted to get better conditions," said Booker T. Gary, 20, of Macon, serving a six-year sentence for robbery. He said his life had been threatened by guards at the work camp.

"If you don't work as good as they think you should, well, they do it," he said of the threats.

The other three prisoners are MacArthur Davis, 26, of Macon, serving a sentence for armed robbery; Douglas May, 24, of Twiggs County, burglary; and Henry Lewis Jackson, 22, of Macon, assault and battery.

Riverside Paper Corp. Plans Multimillion-Dollar Project

Program Includes Development Of East Side Industrial Park

Riverside Paper Corp. announced a multimillion-dollar modernization and expansion program this morning, involving development of Riverside's 35-acre private industrial park in Appleton's far east side and modernization and expansion of the company's existing facilities in the industrial flats along the Fox River.

The long-rumored announcement was made by Timothy C. Catlin, chairman of the board, and Harry G. Davis, president, following a meeting of Riverside's board of directors.

The announcement states that Riverside has awarded a contract to C. R. Meyer and Sons Co., Oshkosh, to begin immediate construction of a 350 by 327 foot factory building with an attached 40 by 100-foot office building. The complex will be built facing the new Kensington Drive extension from Newberry Street, authorized by the Appleton Council on April 5. A second contract has been awarded to C. R. Meyer for a major rebuilding of the existing beater room at the industrial flats location.

Single Story
The new Kensington Drive plant will be of single story

construction and will contain a single unobstructed manufacturing area larger than two football fields placed side by side. The facility will house the company's fine paper finishing and school paper divisions, which will be combined into a single new division of the corporation. The move from the present industrial flats location will be made upon completion of the new facility late this fall.

It was emphasized that the present program is only the first phase of a large program which involves a complete re-

Cleveland Struck Hard By Violence

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Young rowdies put extra police to work Sunday night in Cleveland's east side Negro area with a rash of rock-throwing, window smashing and looting that lasted about three hours. There were at least 20 arrests.

"There were no injuries and no fire bombings," said Lt. Wilmer Kutina of the Fifth District. In that district last July rioting started in the slum Hough area and led to four shooting deaths and a half-million dollars property damage, much of it from fire bombs.

Arrests for Looting
Kutina said there were 18 arrests in his district and adjoining districts reported two others as a result of the disturbances. Police said nearly all the arrests were in connection with looting by young Negro men operating in small groups.

One injury not reported to police was minor — a fireman hit by a thrown bottle while on

Speck's Attorney Prepares Appeal

Peoria Jury Answered 'Who?' But Not 'Why?' or 'How?'

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The question of who murdered eight nurses in a Chicago town house last summer apparently was resolved when a jury convicted Richard Speck Saturday and recommended that he die in the electric chair.

But the questions of why the eight nurses were chosen as the knife-wielding stranger's victims and why eight young women quietly submitted to being tied, robbed, separated and slain may never be answered.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen scheduled post-trial motions for today. Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who represents Speck, will file a motion for an appeal. State law requires all death verdicts to be appealed.

Getty told newsmen Sunday he planned to base his appeal on the prosecution's use of "horror pictures" of the slain girls, which he said were shown to inflame the jurors. He also said he would argue that Speck, 25, could not receive a fair trial in Peoria due to public prejudice.

'Anyone Else'
"With any other defendant, and with only one victim, there would have been an acquittal. There certainly wouldn't have been a death penalty," said Getty, who has never lost a client to the electric chair in 400 other capital cases.

Speck, who appeared unmoved by the eight verdicts recommending he die for the July 14 slayings, was to return to Cook County jail today, said Peoria County Sheriff Willard Koepfel.

A Cook county jail psychiatrist, who interviewed Speck 24 times over a six-month period, ascertained that the drifter-merchant seaman recalled nothing of the night of the slayings.

According to notes taken by Dr. Marvin Ziporyn and released Saturday, Speck related he was drunk and had taken a drug injection. Speck was quoted as saying his memory of that night is blank.

Proof of Identity
In nine days of testimony, the prosecution produced fingerprint experts to prove three prints lifted from a door in the town house bedroom belonged to Speck. Miss Corazon Amurao, a Philippine nurse who hid under a bed as the killer worked, identified Speck as the black-garbed intruder who herded the victims into a bedroom before he killed them one by one in four other rooms.

But the state did not indicate why the eight girls, all students at South Chicago Community Hospital, were killed. Miss Amurao said the intruder wanted money to go to New Orleans and the girls gave him money.

Other witnesses said Speck had talked of going to New Orleans. The survivor said the killer made the girls sit on the floor, then counted them, "one, two, three, four, five, six. . ." Did the killer know eight girls resided there? And when Mary Ann Jordan came to spend the night, did the killer miscount and therefore forget Miss Amurao.

'Are You the Girl?'
The killer was quoted by Miss Amurao as saying to one victim, Patricia Matusek, "Are you the girl in the yellow dress?" Had he seen Miss Matusek before he awakened her July 13?

Miss Amurao testified that she and two other Philippine nurses raft to a closet shortly after the killer entered. They remained there five minutes before they were persuaded to come out by one of their roommates who said, "Don't be afraid. He won't hurt us."

Had any of the victims known the killer or seen him loitering in the neighborhood?

No One Screamed
Why did Corazon Amurao escape? She was the first girl the killer encountered that night. Miss Amurao answered four knocks of her bedroom door. The light was on in the bedroom but the methodical killer who sliced strips of a bedsheet and double-knotted the bonds on the girls' ankles and wrists somehow forgot Miss Amurao.

Why did not the girls, watching as their friends were led one by one to their deaths, attempt to scream in unison to alert a neighbor? Why didn't they attack the intruder?

Miss Amurao told how the killer led two girls downstairs to answer a doorbell, leaving five girls upstairs. Four girls were tied hand and foot. But one girl's hands were free. Why didn't she free herself, and the others? Did the girls suspect it, or was it inconceivable to eight young women — preparing to dedicate their lives to helping others — that one man come in one night and strangle and stab until all were dead?

Ulbricht Proposes Pact of Germanies

Meeting of Kiesinger, Stoph Among Steps in Cooperation

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht today proposed an unprecedented meeting between West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and East German Premier Willi Stoph to discuss first steps toward cooperation between the two Germanies.

Ulbricht told the televised opening session of the East German Communist Party's Seventh Congress that Kiesinger and Stoph should discuss recognition of existing borders, disarmament of both Germanies and mutual renunciation of nuclear weapons. All are old Communist objectives.

West Germany does not recognize East Germany and contends that the border question can be settled only by a peace treaty to be signed with the victorious World War II allies.

The congress opened with delegations from Red China, Albania and Cuba apparently missing. Those nations weren't mentioned when politburo member Herman Axen read a list of 63 delegations to the Congress.

Ulbricht also said East Germany is ready, "with agreement of the Soviet Union, to conclude regular state treaties with the United States, England and France over civil air traffic to and from West Berlin as well as over the traffic and use of trains of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

The Western allies, who also do not recognize Ulbricht's regime, hold the Soviet Union responsible for matters concerning East Germany.

Ulbricht repeated the East German claim that West Berlin is a special political territory and lies on the territory of East Germany.

"Under no circumstances," he said, "will West Berlin ever belong to West Germany. We are ready, however, in agreement with the Soviet Union, to give West Berlin an independent status by treaty. We also are ready to permit on the basis of appropriate treaties the use of the transit ways of the German Democratic Republic for (such) a special West Berlin political unit."

Integration Not Goal, Meredith Says in Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP) — Prominent civil rights figure James Meredith, harassed by pickets and by the elements, spoke to some 700 persons at Carthage College Sunday and told them the goal of the American Negro should cease to be integration.

Meredith said integration is like segregation in that it merely prolongs white control of the society.

"What we need in this country is not an integrated society but a single society," said Meredith.

Prior to Meredith's 45-minute talk, nine pickets claiming to belong to the American Nazi Party paraded at the entrance of the school. There were no incidents.

Meredith said it was the first time anywhere in the U.S. that he had been picketed.

His speech was interrupted for a brief time by heavy rain and hail which pounded on the roof of the auditorium and gymnasium where he was speaking. The noise made it impossible for the audience to hear.

Injunction Threatened to End Strike Stopping Copter Work

Auto Workers in Connecticut Disrupt Production of Engines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is going to court in an attempt to end a one-day strike threatening to disrupt production of helicopter engines needed in Vietnam.

President Johnson directed the Justice Department Sunday to seek a Taft-Hartley Act injunction, ordering an 80-day cooling off period in the dispute between the Avco Corp. and the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union.

Deputy White House press secretary Robert Fleming said the order would be sought today in U.S. District Court in Washington.

But the Justice Department and U.S. Dist. Judge William H. Timbers said the action would be filed this morning in Timbers' New Haven, Conn., court. Union and management earlier had been ordered to appear there.

The auto workers struck Avco's Lycoming plant at Stratford in a dispute over wages, a cost of living clause, supplemental unemployment benefits and pensions.

A special three-man board appointed by Johnson Saturday recommended the 80-day injunction, after studying the strike scene.

About 80 of the 4,600 union members picketed the plant Sunday. No incidents were reported.

Red Espionage Officer Thought At Work in U.S.

Newspaper Claims Federal Agents Keeping Surveillance

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Vasily V. Mozshechikov, No. 2 man in the KGB, the Soviet Union's military intelligence unit, entered the United States under cover March 27 and since then federal agents have been "sticking to him like glue," the New York Daily News said today.

The agents trailed him in New York City after his arrival here, on a trip to Washington, D.C., and then back here, the Daily News said.

In Washington, the FBI and the State Department declined comment on the story.

The Daily News story said Mozshechikov and a KGB associate, who had entered New York with him, were "cloaked under aliases, diplomatic papers and the protection of the U.S. government."

Referring to Mozshechikov as "Mosie," the story said: "Until he reads this he will not realize that his cover is blown. Nor will his boss, KGB head Aleksandr Saharovskiy, know until then that a Russian defector had fingered Mosie to the U.S."

Diplomatic Passport

The story said Mozshechikov entered New York with the KGB associate, Gen. Nikolai Vinogradov, cloaked under a diplomatic passport made out in the alias of Vasily V. Kurnetsov.

Mozshechikov went to an apartment house on East 67th Street, Manhattan, owned by the Russians "and the home-away-from-home for consular and United Nations Russian attaches."

U.S. agents began trailing the two KGB men

After two days in New York, Mozshechikov went to Washington where he saw the sights and the cherry blossom festival "in his spare time from spying and whatever other official duties he had."

Still trailed by federal agents, he returned to New York April 11.

Army Veteran Disbelieves He's Heroic, Rejects Medal

SAIGON (AP) — "The Silver Star is awarded for specific acts of gallantry," Sgt. Maj. Anthony T. Ferrelli wrote his former battalion commander. "I cannot remember performing any such acts, therefore I am not worthy of such recognition."

Ferrelli, 39, of Aurora, Ill., wrapped his letter around America's third highest battle award, mailed it to Lt. Col. Paul Gorman and took a plane back to the United States, his tour in Vietnam completed.

"He was so damn humble," said Gorman, who had commanded Ferrelli's battalion in the 1st Division's 26th Infantry Regiment. "This is just like him."

'Not Reflected'
Ferrelli's letter continued. "I'm returning the medal through you as I know the value you place on personal integrity, loyalty etc. I will make certain that this award is not reflected in my service record. Thanks for all you have done for the 26th and God bless you always."

Gorman and other 1st Division officers said no error was made in awarding the stocky Ferrelli the Silver Star.

"Specifically, he earned it April 1 during the battle at landing zone George in War Zone C," said Lt. Col. Alexander M. Haig, who recommended the bat-

Trial Ordered for Policeman Fired After Shooting

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Police Patrolman Richard M. Redman, 37, a 14-year veteran of the force, has been fired and will stand trial on a charge of attempted murder for the shooting of a superior officer.

Redman was arrested Friday night after Sgt. James A. Marx, 35, was shot twice in the right groin. Marx was in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Police said the shots came from a .357 caliber magnum which Redman carried instead of a regulation service pistol.

Redman was on duty at the time of the shooting and authorities said Marx had been questioning Redman about drinking on duty when the shooting occurred.

Redman, who is free on $5,000 bond, had his case adjourned to May 4, when a preliminary hearing will be held.

Coppolino Accused Of Drugging Wife To Be Free to Rewed

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino swam and played golf during the weekend while the 12 jurors who must decide whether he is guilty of murder went fishing.

Coppolino is accused of fatally drugging his first wife, Carmela, because she refused to divorce him so he could marry a rich widow.

The trial goes into its third week today and the fifth day of testimony by two medical detectives that Carmela died Aug. 28, 1965 of an injection of the paralytic drug succinylcholine.

The defense, led by F. Lee Bailey, claims death came from unknown natural causes.

The two key prosecution witnesses — Drs. Milton Helsen and Charles J. Umberger of the New York medical examiner's office — have stayed with their murder theory despite intense cross-examination.

7-Month Exam

Umberger, who conducted seven months of chemical tests on the exhumed body of the dead woman, said death by succinylcholine was the only logical conclusion he could draw.

Chief Medical Examiner Helsen, who made the autopsy, said he assigned Umberger to a search-for-poison after finding no evidence of natural death.

Bailey has attacked the basis for the conclusions of the two witnesses — that the unusually high quantities of succinic acid and choline in the body could have come only from the drug.

The drug long has been considered undetectable after death because it breaks down immediately into these two components.

Normal Condition

Bailey drew from Umberger the fact that every member of the jury has both succinic acid and choline in their tissue normally.

He continually asked whether the embalming fluid in the brain could have combined with body chemicals to release additional choline. He repeatedly said — with agreement from the witnesses — that succinic acid itself is harmless.

Disagree With Policy

Nixon Claims Kennedy, Mansfield Prolonging War Through Protests

SAIGON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon accused Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., of "prolonging the war" in Vietnam by opposing the Johnson administration's war policy.

"They are raising false hopes for peace in the United States and prolonging the war," Nixon said as he completed his seventh visit to Vietnam and flew to Indonesia. He was in Saigon three days.

Nixon said Kennedy and Mansfield were "misinformed but well intentioned."

The Republican leader said the Vietnam war will be debated during the 1968 presidential campaign.

Pressure on Enemy
"The subject of the debate," he continued, "will not be how the United States can negotiate a defeat but how the United States can put overwhelming military and economic pressure on the enemy."

He said a third-party peace candidate "might very well emerge" but would not receive many votes.

"It's pretty hard for a peace-at-any-price candidate to get votes," Nixon said.

He said North Vietnam is suffering from "monstrous delusions" about the American people's support of the war.

Behind War
"I believe that the presidential campaign will serve to bring home the message that the overwhelming majority of Americans are behind this war," he declared. Nixon said he would wait until his return to the United States to enlarge on his view "that some changes in our Vietnam policy need to be made."

He did say changes need to be made in the number of American troops in Vietnam and the types of targets being bombed in North Vietnam. He apparently meant more U.S. troops were needed. There are now 438,000 in Vietnam.

Philadelphia Church Averts Teacher Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lay teachers settled their wage dispute with the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia an hour before classes were to begin today, ending a threatened strike at 28 parochial high schools.

The agreement came as teachers already were picketing in front of the residence of Archbishop John J. Krol.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed. In a joint statement, Msgr. Edward T. Hughes, superintendent of schools for the diocese and John Murray, president of the Association of Catholic Teachers, said "agreement was reached on a salary schedule acceptable to both parties."

The association claims to represent 450 of the 650 lay teachers. There are about 1,400 nuns, brothers and priests who also teach in the high schools operated by the archdiocese.

Msgr. Hughes said he was happy over the agreement and asserted, "We can now go forward with our basic and essential mission, of completing this school term without adverse effect upon our students."

Murray said his association "will continue to work closely with the superintendent for the betterment of the secondary system."

State Work Force Up By 13,600 in Month

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's work force in March totaled 1,776,100, an increase of 13,600 from February, the Industrial Commission noted today.

The gain followed the usual seasonal upturn in nonfarm employment.

The recall of workers at a major auto manufacturing plant following a short layoff in February, and other demands for workers dropped the unemployment total to 60,500. This was 15,300 fewer than in February.

Tornado-Wary Valley Hit By Severe Electric Storm

Chilton, Hilbert Area Records Damage From Heaviest Rainfall

Heavy rainfall, accompanied by a severe electric storm late Sunday and early today, resulted in several power failures and flooded basements in the Fox Cities and throughout the entire Fox Valley area.

The first major storm of the spring season brought as much as two inches of rain and had thousands of people wary during the night because of a tornado watch in effect until 2:30 a.m. today.

While no tornadoes were reported in the Valley, a funnel cloud hammered two short stretches of farmland in south-central Wisconsin and then vanished after slipping harmlessly past Monroe.

Power Failed
The storm resulted in extensive power failures in Appleton, Menasha, Village of Kimberly, the Town of Freedom and the Town of Harrison.

Appleton's major power failure occurred about 8:40 a.m. today when a tree fell over a 34,500-volt transmission line near Wisconsin Michigan Power Company's gas plant substation on N. Water Street.

Heavy Fox River current during recent weeks had been washing away riverbank soil near the substation, exposing roots on the tree. A major wind gust at 8:40 a.m. toppled the tree. The transmission line fell on a 4,160-volt distribution line, causing both to go out.

Power failures were experienced for varying times in Appleton's downtown College Avenue area. The longest power outage was for about 35 minutes in the E. College Avenue area in the vicinity of Lawrence University. Power was restored by rerouting distribution lines.

All Appleton police radio communications went out, but point to point contact was made with the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department. An auxiliary electrical generating system was used at the fire department and it kept the fire alarm system working.

The heaviest rainfall, apparently, was in the Chilton-Hilbert area. In Chilton, rainfall measured two inches from 4 p.m. Sunday until the storm ended early today. Total rainfall in Chilton from noon Saturday until 7 a.m. today was 2.5 inches.

Rainfall in Appleton, according to Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., totaled 1.15 inches from 6:45 a.m. until midnight. Only a trace of rain fell after midnight. The rain was at times accompanied by hail.

Winds High
Wind gusts measured 40 miles per hour in Appleton during Sunday night's storm and up to 36 m.p.h. this morning when Appleton had its power outage. Heavier wind gusts were reported in the areas south and east of the city, but no official measurements were taken.

Electric power went out in the city of Menasha at 6:47 p.m. Sunday when lightning hit a tower and a transformer outside the Menasha Water and Electric Utility plant on the island.

Power for most of the city was restored at 7:19 p.m. after temporary repairs were made. Lightning struck a pedestal insulator in the Town of Harrison substation of Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. about 11:40 p.m., causing a power failure which took in most of the Town of Harrison in the area of U. S. 10, State 55 and Calumet County Trunks N and KK.

In order to repair the damage, the substation was closed until 4:42 a.m. today. Power was out for the entire time.

Lightning Hits
One of the three 34,500 volt lines which serve Kimberly also was hit by lightning. As a result there were intermittent power outages in the village from about 11:40 p.m. Sunday until 1:15 a.m. today.

Heavy winds blew a tree across a primary transmission line south of Freedom at 1:15 a.m. Full power wasn't restored in the Freedom area until 5:40 a.m. Lightning damage also caused a 15-minute power outage in the rural areas in the vicinity of Bear Creek, Northport, Roylton and New London.

Lightning which hit transformers in Neenah, Oshkosh, Chilton and Hilbert caused brief electric failures.

Other farms were hit less hard. Residents had ample warning. The U.S. Weather Bureau had issued a tornado watch Sunday morning. The tornado struck shortly after 2 p.m. in the afternoon.

Seven of the damaged farms were in Green County. On the Clarence Falk farm near Browntown a 100-foot long barn was destroyed and two cement silos were damaged. On another farm, a wagon was hurled 50 feet through the air and smashed against a pine tree.

Civil Defense workers and firemen were called out to clear fallen trees from roadways. Utility company employees were also called out to repair damaged lines.

Fuel Stations Changed for Squad Cars

Gas to be Available At County Garage Before End of Month

Before the end of the month, Outagamie County squad cars will be getting gasoline at the county highway department garage just west of Appleton.

The change is expected to save the county several cents on each gallon of gasoline used in the squad cars, although law enforcement committee members indicated Friday they are not sure just what the gasoline price will be. The fuel contract is let out on bids.

In the past, the sheriff's department has been purchasing fuel from Van Zeeland Oil Co., Little Chute. Police have had to drive to the Moasis on U. S. 41 to get fuel. The Little Chute supplier had the gasoline contract on a low bid to the county.

A new type of gasoline pump is expected to be installed within the next two weeks at the highway department garage. County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler told the law enforcement committee Friday afternoon.

Need Special Key
Esler said a special key will be assigned to each squad car and only by using that key can the gasoline pump be operated. An automatic tally is made of the fuel put into each car during a given period.

The highway department will purchase the fuel, then charge the county another two cents for "handling charges," and to defray the cost of the new pump.

Squad car drivers will be responsible for routine maintenance such as the checking of

Two Grass Fire Runs at Waupaca

WAUPACA — Firemen were called to extinguish two grass fires Saturday. Both were brought under control before any damage was caused.

The first call came at 11:43 a.m. when a fire broke out in a wooded area a mile west of the city on State 54. The fire was brought under control after it burned over approximately one acre of brushland.

At 1:40 p.m., a spark from a barbecue pit started a grass fire at South Park.

Union Vote In Deadlock at Niagara K-C

One Challenged Vote May Decide Representation Issue

NIAGARA — A National Labor Relations Board-conducted union representation election here Friday ended in a deadlock at the Kimberly Clark Corp. mill.

And there is the possibility that one challenged vote might determine the outcome.

The Independent Paperworkers Union, the present certified representative for hourly paid employees received 314 votes.

However, two other unions which petitioned jointly as one entity on the ballot also polled a total of 314 votes. The Paper and Allied Workers Division of the Teamsters Union got 249 and the United Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, drew 68.

Of the 650 production workers eligible to vote, 628 cast ballots. Under the National Labor Relations Act, a union must receive more than 50 per cent of the vote to be certified the bargaining agent.

The challenged vote reportedly centers around one employee, whose name the union claims, did not appear on the original voter eligibility list.

It will be up to the NLRB to make a determination on the challenged vote, or order another runoff election. No action is expected by the board for at least a week, an NLRB spokesman said.

Two years ago the independent union defeated the Teamsters in an election, 339-280.

Magnificent Hoax—and a Lesson

One of the most magnificent financial hoaxes in history has come to light in Texas when some disgruntled relatives decided that they had been fooled and should have a cut of their own coming. They had been fooled all right along with such personages as Governor Connally of Texas and the President of the United States, but not as much so as an order of Roman Catholic nuns.

Believing that the Ernest Medders might come into a fortune because of some Texas land which might have oil, the nuns began to lend them money. The amount actually reached the massive amount of more than $2 million before a new mother superior began to look at the figures. The Medderses in the meantime had built up such a reputation for immense wealth in Texas, where perhaps more than most places money is the great talker, that they were able to charge jewelry, food, furs, cattle and plane fares without a problem for months and then borrow more than $700,000 from banks whose officials were also bamboozled into believing there was some sort of a sound basis for all that spending.

By hiring a public relations man, the Medderses managed to get leading citizens of Dallas and Texas political figures to attend their elaborate parties. By contributing $4,000 to the President's Club, they got an invitation to the White House for a large reception and then a much smaller dinner with the Johnsons and a ride back to Texas on Air Force One. And the whole mammoth hoax might never have been revealed since the nuns didn't want to tell it, except that some Medders relatives sued to find out where the money came from.

Since right now not many people want to press charges, it might be well to recognize that Americans really owe the Medderses some sort of thanks. It is not only in Texas that the appearance of wealth has such influence. Not only Dallas or Washington is afflicted with the belief that money is power.

There is more than irony in the fact that Secretary of State Dean Rusk could take the time to drive the Medderses to the White House reception, an invitation they had clearly bought, while the nation sends its young men to die in a controversial jungle war. It is outrageous, not so much to the discredit of Secretary Rusk or even President Johnson, but to the discredit of the American people who allow such political shenanigans. It makes the hypocrisy of even the Students for a Democratic Society look mild in comparison. And the fact that the order of nuns is called the Poor Sisters of St. Francis only piles on the contrasts between what so much of America says it is and what it really worships.

Every American ought to study the case history of the Medderses. It should shake all of us up to the shoddiness that seems to be spreading throughout the country.

The Action Is Downtown

It looks like a mess right now but in a matter of a few months the hub of the Fox Cities region will boast one of the finest business strips in Wisconsin.

While long in coming, the College Avenue reconstruction project is a testimonial to the progressive spirit of downtown merchants, property owners, and the community in general.

Fortunately, the city has contracted the best in the business to carry out the major street face-lifting project and if you haven't been downtown lately, it might be a good idea to come and take a look-see.

While College Avenue has been blocked off to vehicular traffic, ample provisions have been made to make it as convenient as possible for pedestrians to capture the excitement of machines and men responsible for coming up with the finished product. And there is business as usual with merchants hanging out their spring sale signs.

Grant you there will be some traffic inconveniences because of several intersections being barricaded during the construction period, but patience on the part of the motoring public will be well rewarded come this fall.

In the meantime, for those who wish to park as close to College Avenue as possible, there are plenty of municipal parking facilities within a stone's throw of the business district.

The reconstruction is sailing right along on schedule, and if the weatherman cooperates, ribbon-cutting ceremonies might well be a month or so earlier than the Nov. 1 deadline.

So, we're being optimistic? Let's call it a test of positive thinking.

A Salute to Some Grand Old Girls

Here in America, we often too dominant males fail to take our hats off and properly salute the ladies for their loveable and ingenious ways.

Today, however, there is a particular society of ladies, who deserve acclaim for an outstanding job.

Unfortunately their membership has dwindled in recent years. Many men puzzled over possible causes of this decline. Some felt maybe it was because the luncheons weren't up to par. Others blamed high prices although the society charged no dues. The ladies never were lavish spenders on clothes.

Still others thought perhaps housing conditions were overcrowded. These ladies had an unusual intelligence level, many thought, but it was rather difficult to really analyze.

They were a very even tempered lot in these trying times and even seemed to respond well to directions. That in itself bespeaks an unusual patience and "seldom was heard a discouraging word," some said of them.

Soon the men congregated and decided that if they were a little less stringent with the pocketbook when it came to the food budget that perhaps things would improve.

And we've got to hand it to the men, too. They worked hard and even got some special men from the University to advise them. Now these gentlemen said, "Treat 'em right because good girls like these are hard to find."

And so they did. To this they added a touch of loving kindness. Now historians of any value are certain to recognize these ladies as the unsung heroines of the 1960's, particularly in Wisconsin.

So let's raise our glasses of milk on high in salute to this society of ladies. You're grand old girls, "Bossies." Keep up the good work!

some man. And there may be those who will turn down a second helping despite a hungry stomach because of what people will think.

Food promoters will be finding new ways of advertising their products. Inevitably someone will come up with a relationship between a liking for a certain kind of food or drink and the sexual appetite. Foods that women have been avoiding because of calories, cholesterol or just plain taste may suddenly have new allure.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 27, 1867.

Christie's Minstrels performed in Appleton on Friday evening. They will be at Young's Corners in Dale on April 27th.

A few score of Appletonians can affirm that the itinerant band of performers were along this way traveling under that cognomen. Their audience was small and the performance even smaller.

The actors may have skill and talent, but like most schoolboys they need much more training before they can be successful. (The famous troupe with a similar name were the Christy Minstrels, who worked on the Mississippi river boats in an earlier day.)

Monday, April 13, 1942.
Dr. F. J. Rankin and Dr. Stephan Konz were teaching first aid classes in the Appleton Civilian Defense training course for 61 air raid wardens in District D. Fred Boughton was district chief, assisted by Clarence Below and James C. Borland.

Miss Joan Stein, Clintonville High School, was among the second place winners in the state extempore speaking contest at Madison. James Gustman, Kaukauna High School, received a Class B rating for his talk, "American Democracy Triumphant," in the state oratorical section of the state contest.

Gary Singler won first place in the checker tournament for Boy Rangers, junior branch of the Catholic Order of Foresters. Joseph P. Thelen was second place winner and special awards went to Robert Witte and Robert Vosbeek.

Monday, April 15, 1957
David Reilly, Neenah, and former King resident, David Hathaway, of Las Vegas, were among the five Lawrence College seniors elected to Phi Beta Kappa that week.

Andrew Berry took first place in the second annual chess championship play at Appleton City hall. Second place went to Hans Huse.

The Hawks were champion bowlers in the Bird Couples League at the Little Chute Recreation alleys that season. The champions were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weyenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Randerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wolfgram were elected co-prospects of the St. Theresa Home-School Association in Appleton.

People's Forum

United States Not Doing Enough For Starving People of the World

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In your Sunday issue of April 9 an article appeared by the syndicated columnist William F. Buckley Jr. The author expressed his disappointment of the recent encyclical by Pope Paul VI, "Populorum Progressio" and further related the encyclical to be unfortunate for "its naiveite in secular matters." The word naiveite means to be naive, natural, unaffectedly or foolishly simple. The encyclical was the result of three years of work by Pope Paul. After uncompromising remarks concerning Pope Paul's judgment on taxation, distribution of the wealth, and a personal conclusion about the Vatican treasures, Buckley closes his sermon by calling Pope Paul an intense and holy man.

It is hard to find a reasonable explanation for Mr. Buckley's manner of expression but I shall try to relate as to why an encyclical of this nature is so badly needed at this period of history.

Pope Paul VI is profoundly aware of the situation of the world and is especially concerned with the poor and less fortunate who are literally dying at the doorsteps of the rich. Buckley defended the rich, the extremely rich, of the United States and Latin American countries and explained they could not help the poor to the degree that Pope Paul desired because of (in some cases) personal safety, and the balance of gold situation. He avored helping the poor countries through industry and profit only, rather than outright sharing with no material return. Buckley determined the Pope's views to be "elementary," "terrible congestion of misinformation," "illusory and self-defeating."

When speaking of the rich in terms of world population, most men would consider us to be rich, our lower class, middle class, as well as upper class. I feel very strongly that we can and should do more for the less fortunate, the poor of the world, if we want to seriously call ourselves Christians. Individual efforts, such as tithing (10 percent of gross income to the church or missions) and collective efforts are becoming a realization with a growing number of people of all faiths today. Government, sensing the needs and wants of people, should be responsible towards all peoples of all nations, in the same manner that a man of God is to his neighbor. Buckley does not favor increased taxes to help the poor. Taxation is part of many governments, and if used properly can do much good. Therefore if we have tax and use it to benefit ourselves materially, it does make sense to use this tax system to benefit ourselves spiritually by aiding the poor of other nations. Thus we promote peace in the world by example, and earn peace of soul which can only be gained by a closer relationship with God through charity and love for all men.

I am sure if many of us could actually see the thousands dying of starvation our hearts would open to them. I'm sure if we could see what disease is doing to men, women and children of poor nations daily, we would gladly help. If a small child came to us in pain, such as the pain of leprosy, we would not ignore her because she may be ignorant, for we realize that if God had willed us to be born among the poor, we would seek help in the same manner.

Before we tell God how many children we want on this earth, we had better be prepared to explain that we did all in our power to feed, clothe, and care for the children. He has willed to this time. I do not consider sixty plus billions for defense versus 1/2 of 1 percent gross national product in direct foreign aid to be doing all possible for the poor. I do not consider explanations that we, and only we, have made the United States the rich nation she is today and God had no part in it. I do not consider isolated cases of birth difficulty as justification for mass control of populations, as each has his time of decision with God. We speak so often of freedom in this country, but sometimes if our will is not the will of others, we find them always to be wrong and ourselves always to be right. Part of the way towards peace is through respect for each others opinions and the humility to examine the intention with charity. I disagree strongly with William F. Buckley's opinions and think they were made in haste, but he has my respect for expressing himself in the manner he thought best.

Raising Tuition Fees For Non-Residents Is Difficult Task

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The sacred cow is probably as common in Wisconsin politics as in the politics of the rest of the country. The $5 concession for the farmers' motor vehicle registration fee, the conspicuously low tax on beer in a time of rising excises on all other taxed commodities, the idea that the hunter and fisherman have superior rights in directing the affairs of the Conservation Department, home rule on the regulation of intoxicants, the virtual immunity from dismissal of thousands of employees covered by the civil service system, and most obviously, the embargo against margarine by force of law are familiar examples of political sanctification in varying degrees.

Probably another is the idea that students whose parents live in another state, contribute nothing to the high tax demands of the Wisconsin state treasury, and won't or cannot be admitted to other educational institutions, are entitled to enroll at publicly supported universities here at a price that is probably below the cost outlay of Wisconsin taxpayers under a realistic cost accounting system.

Thus one of the more provocative developments in the current legislature is the evident intention of the Legislative Joint Finance Committee, extremely pressed as it is to accommodate huge and rising expenditure demands, to revise the non-resident university tuition schedule.

PREDICTABLE INCREASE SMALL

The increases suggested are comparatively mild, rebuking some of the hostile predictions of opponents of any fee revision. Moreover, the committee by design or otherwise has achieved some blurring of the issue by proposing at the same time an upward revision of Wisconsin resident student charges. This was done on the reasonable ground that the traditional ratio of student contribution — modest as it is — should be adjusted as the University's total money demands grow, and the presumption that the value of its educational program is advancing proportionately.

Yet it can be predicted that the question of nonresident fee increases will be fought, indignantly, piously, and earnestly, according to the motives of the objectors.

It will be said — and has in fact already been said — that the university is being "punished" because of the notoriety achieved by some of the student demonstrators lately. The policy will be called isolationist and chauvinistic.

The University administration, more careful in its own reactions, will grieve that such a program will deprive some worthy students of an opportunity for an education, although governmental and private assistance is available today in amount and variety predecessor generations didn't dare to dream about. More particularly, they will lament the threat to the "cosmopolitan" nature of the university and the cultural deprivation of the sons and daughters of Wisconsin that will result from the probable reduction of the enrollments from other states.

CHANCES ARE GOOD

Such assertions have been persuasive in the past. Perhaps they will prevail again.

Yet it appears possible, for the first time since the issue arose, that the political policy makers will stand by their guns. A precedent of a sort was provided a year ago when the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education after long consideration decided upon a limitation of nonresident undergraduate enrollment without reference to the charges involved. The freshman limit was generous enough, but it was a limit, for the first time. The CCHHE realized that the brute pressure of financing required a new policy. Now the legislature appears prepared to insist that those non-Wisconsin beneficiaries who want to enroll should also pay fees more nearly equal to the price of the service they desire.

The "cosmopolitan" argument, curiously, has strong appeal. Yet it is the most easily dissected. Accurate cost accounting on the issue of per capita student costs may be more difficult. It is not especially difficult to perceive that the "cosmopolitanism" that is held to be desirable is grossly deceptive when most of the students come from a few states — and those states happen to be those that are spending proportionately less on their own schools.

Colleges Should Pay Their Athletes Openly

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A few weeks before the University of Illinois athletic scandal broke in the papers, I was talking with a high school boy in Florida. He told me he had just won a "football scholarship" to a college.

Harris

"It's such a joke," he said. "I know I wouldn't be in any college if I couldn't play football as well as I do. I'd feel a lot better if they just came out and bought me, instead of giving me a phony scholarship."

This lad is more honest and sensible than most college presidents, coaches and alumni. If a winning football or basketball team is important to a school, let it go out and frankly buy a team, the same way it buys a professor or researcher to add to its lustre.

Every school would then have its own team of mercenaries who wear the school colors and don't pretend to be serious students. They would be openly subsidized and not expected to do anything but represent the school in athletic contests.

Thus, in one swell foop, the whole atmosphere of moral decay, cynicism, duplicity and corruption would be cleared away, and the colleges most willing to devote the most money to sports would have the best teams — if that's what they want more than anything else.

The present system is unfair to everybody: To the colleges that won't subsidize its athletes, to the players themselves (who get too much to feel honest, and too little to justify their sense of shame), to the non-playing students who may deserve scholarships in their fields, and to faculties who know that the coach is more valuable than any half-dozen of them put together.

Amateur athletics is mostly a joke in this country, anyway. In that noble and painfully courteous game of tennis, for instance, the so-called amateurs are given "expense accounts" for taking part in tournaments, as well as under-the-table payments that allow them to live off the fat of their heads.

Nobody pretends that "the glory of the game" has much meaning any more; it is strictly a cash-and-carry operation — the promoters carry the cash, and the athletes carry the ball, and the public carries a cynical smile to all such events. "Sportsmanship" is about as meaningful a word in this context as "good citizenship" at a Mafia meeting.

Will Rogers once remarked that "America has the best politicians money can buy." Colleges might as well adopt that maxim for their athletic policies — or stop being indignant that so many students cheat in exams.

Claims Farmer's Life Not a Bed of Roses

Editor, Post-Crescent:
To: City Dwellers:
You, and Mrs. Tired, but Contented Farmer's Wife make me sick. I'm glad people like you are in the minority. You squawk and bellow like a wounded moose, because we're trying to increase our income by 2 cents a quart on milk and maybe having a fair margin of profit like all the rest of the businessmen in our nation. Since time began the farmer has been the underdog, and the term "dumb farmer" has been applied to all. But we are sick and tired of supporting the economy of the nation for a mere piddling tipence. The only time farmers were able to get a fairly decent price for anything was in war time, and at the expense of our dead departed members of our families. Is that what you want???

In 1950 milk prices were higher than they are now, and you could buy a good tractor for around $1800. Today, milk prices are lower than the 1950 level and that same tractor sells for $4,200, and you have the unmitigated gall to ask for a protest. Go to the level in government where you should be protesting, not the farmer.

As long as you are calling for help, why don't you write to your senators and have them try to stop all the imports that are coming into our country. For years we've been told to get the supply in line with the demand and we would get a fair price for our products. Well, Mr. City Dweller, last year our government told us there was no longer a surplus, and we had our supply in line with the demand, so what did our government do? They raised the imports on dairy products. That's real fair, isn't it? Now anybody with an ounce of brains would protest with that deal, and that is just what we did by dumping our milk.

Just what do you think we farmers live on? Thin Air? We also have to buy our groceries, and clothing, pay taxes just like our city cousins, because our farm wage doesn't compare to yours. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture came out with a Farmers Bulletin No. 2221, Wash. D. C. (which you may send for) that states the dairy hourly wage in central and northeastern Wisconsin was 37 cents per hour. In eastern Wisconsin, it was slightly higher — 63 cents per hour. Big Deal. I'd like to see you support your family on that kind of living wage, especially when it costs us $4 per hour to have a machanic work on our tractor. Right now the farmers are operating at 73.5 of parity.

Jeffersonian Theory Limits Judicial Power

Editor, Post-Crescent:
Dear Editor:
An unprecedented, but little publicized movement steadily gaining headway is the campaign to have state legislatures call a national convention for the purpose of revising the Constitution and clipping the Supreme Court's wings.

A two-thirds majority of state legislatures must request such a convention, which means that 34 states are enough to initiate it, as provided in the Constitution. And success seems at hand now. No super-human efforts nor prime factor in this campaign. Leaders of the movement hope to overturn the U.S. Supreme Court's arbitrary decision by bringing about the adoption of a Constitutional amendment which would let states decide their own legislative makeup without federal interference.

Supreme Court rulings in favor of communists and criminals would also get special attention if and when a convention is held to revise our nation's organic law.

Some advocates of the convention would have U.S. Supreme Court members elected by the people rather than appointed by the President. Interestingly, Thomas Jefferson wanted a six-year term for all members of the federal judiciary, with appointment by the President and approval by both houses of Congress, instead of lifetime appointments as at present.

Jefferson said, "I deem it indispensable to the continuance of this government that the courts should be subject to some practical and impartial control."

It appears that for the first time in American history, a national convention will be called to revise the federal Constitution through the initiative of legislatures in two-thirds of the states. This could lead to historic and significant developments having profound effects on the future course of our nation.

NASA Officials Hopeful as Surveyor 3 Starts Moon Trip

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Packing its own little shovel to plow the moon's soil and crack open lunar rocks, America's Surveyor 3 sailed through space today aiming to softly land Wednesday at a site chosen for U.S. astronauts.

The 10-foot-tall spacecraft — most complex robot ever tossed toward the moon by the United States — blasted off at 2:05 a.m. EST today aboard an Atlas-Centaur rocket to begin a planned 65-hour, 237,000-mile trip.

'Looks Good'

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said sensors aboard the craft successfully locked onto the sun. The sun and the star Canopus were to guide Surveyor 3 to the moon. Several hours after launch, project officials said the craft's trajectory to the moon "looks extremely good." A spacecraft motor needs to make only a "very small midcourse correction" to send it on a bullseye course toward Surveyor 3's target zone, officials said.

"It looks like we have an excellent bird," a project spokesman said.

Plans called for the 2,253-pound craft to fire a braking rocket about 7 p.m. Wednesday and gently set its tripod legs on the lunar surface, ready to spend at least two weeks taking pictures and digging into the soil.

Except for the shovel and two additional mirrors to expand the camera's field of view, Surveyor 3 was almost identical to the Surveyor 1 which achieved this nation's first soft landing on the moon last June 2 and returned 11,150 photographs.

Visible Face
Surveyor 3 was aimed for a spot in the moon's Ocean of Storms, located on the right side of the moon's visible face and slightly below the equator.

The target zone, about 300 miles west of where Surveyor 1 landed, was chosen as a candidate landing site for moon-bound astronauts after photographs from Lunar Orbiters 1 and 3 showed it to be relatively smooth.

The craft's digging device consists of a scoop about the size of a man's hand. It is attached to an expandable arm which can be manipulated, building of Riverside's two paper machines.

Expansion Set By Paper Firm

"We know that we have 50 to 60 per cent additional capacity in our existing paper machines if we rebuild them," Davis stated, "but the plain fact is that we are so crowded for space now that we couldn't get this additional production through the mill. That is the reason for tackling the fine paper finishing and school paper operations first."

End of 1970
Planning for the paper machine rebuilding program will be started around June 15. It is estimated the program will be completed by the end of 1970. Riverside's present long-range plans also call for the future installation of a third paper machine following an expansion of the new Kensington Drive plant.

C. R. Meyer representatives in Oshkosh said site preparation will be started later this week. An informal ground breaking ceremony is planned.

much like a small steam shovel, by radio signals from the ground.

"Surveyor 1 put man's eyes on the moon," said Benjamin Milwitsky, Surveyor program manager. "This gadget will put his hands and arms on the moon."

The scoop has a small lid that, when closed, has a bite twice as strong as a man's jaw. This could be used to move debris or crack apart a lunar rock so scientists can see the texture of the soil and determine if it is strong enough to support a manned space ship.

Medical Palace Built on Seeds Of Ancient Tree

Hippocrates Said To Have Taught In Its Shade on Kos

By CHRIS ELIOU
ATHENS (AP) — The seeds of a plane tree said to be 2,500 years old are helping build a medical palace on the picturesque Greek island of Kos.

The seeds, says retired Athens surgeon Spyridon Economos, are being sold at $5 apiece. Proceeds will be a symbolic assistance toward construction of the Palais de Medecines on Kos.

The 81-year-old Economos' plan for the project visualizes a medical school to be founded with other countries setting up national houses so that Kos will have a complete international medical city. The Palais de Medecines is the first building of the projected international medical city, with a school in which young doctors taking the Hippocratic oath would be trained and licensed to practice in any country of the world.

Seeds Germinated
Economos said the Greek government has promised $4 million toward the project, expected to be ready by 1968.

King Constantine, then a crown prince, laid the cornerstone in 1962.

Hippocrates, the ancient Greek called the father of medicine, was born on Kos in 460 B.C. It is said he held classes beneath the branches of the tree. It now engulfs most of a central square on the island, which contains the ruins of Asclepiion, one of the world's earliest hospitals.

Plane trees are of the genus platanus, which includes the American sycamore. Prof. William C. Gibson of the University of British Columbia, on a visit to Kos, originated the idea of selling the seeds. An editorial last year in the journal of the American Medical Association helped launch Gibson's plan.

$4 Million Promised
The seeds have been successfully germinated at the University of British Columbia after four months in a greenhouse. Requests accompanied by $5 bills have been pouring in from many countries.

"So far we have sold $4,000 worth of seeds and we have 25,000 more ready for sale," Economos said.

Any doctor can become a lifetime member of the Hippocratic Foundation for a fee of $1. Some 20,000 doctors have joined, both from Western and Communist nations.

Economos' long-term vision is interest from accumulated membership fees to provide a $35,000 "Hippocratic prize" every five years.

Earthquake Routes 75,000 in Celebes

JAKARTA (AP) — A severe earthquake in Indonesia's southern Celebes region killed 37 persons and injured 51 others last week, the official news agency Antara reported today.

Antara, in a dispatch from Makassar, the Celebes capital, said 75,000 persons had been forced to evacuate the Polmas and Madjene areas in the province.

The report did not specify when the quake struck but it said heavy tremors were felt up to last Wednesday night. The government appealed for food, clothing, medicine and other forms of relief.

'Mighty Mite' Blowers Cooking Out Viet Cong Tunnel Rats

BY PETER ARNETT
LAI THIEU, Vietnam (AP) — Powerful blowers that "cook out" Viet Cong guerrillas with blasts of air heated to 1,000 degrees are being used north of Saigon.

The blowers are the latest gadgetry to evolve in the frustrating wars of the tunnels in old-time Communist redoubts in the populated areas around Saigon.

U.S. 1st Division troops have been experimenting with the air blowers in the tangled Thuan Gao jungle east of the district town of Lai Thieu 10 miles north of Saigon. The heated air was blasted into a tunnel complex this week after a Viet Cong had thrown grenades at two 1st Division "tunnel rats." He did not come out, and apparently escaped through a hidden exit.

Other common techniques to clear tunnels are to blow in tear gas or burn the insides with flamethrowers. The hot air technique utilizes the 30-pound "mighty mite" blowers used normally in forcing tear gas into tunnels. The air is heated by a power generator working off a battery, and forced into a tunnel entrance.

Clear Jungle
One technique is to remove patches of jungle that have harbored Viet Cong guerrillas, base camps and arms caches for years. "Rome plows" with huge iron blades that can clear 10 acres a day, and bulldozers, have carved out huge patches of jungle north of Saigon.

Schweitzer said the "hot air" technique is applied gradually to tunnels where Viet Cong are believed hiding. The tunnel inhabitants are warned by loud-speaker.

Then the blowers begin. The loudspeakers continue exhorting the Viet Cong to leave the tunnels as the temperature rises.

1,000 Degrees
Eventually, blasts of 1,000 degrees are directed into the tunnel.

"Tunnel rats" can explore the tunnels soon afterward because they cool quickly. When gas is used, tunnels are contaminated for days.

"It is necessary for us to provide the utmost protection for our men, and this is one way of doing it," Schweitzer said.

The jungle area being probed east of Lai Thieu is believed to be the base camp of a Viet Cong district company. Documents, including list of party members and guerrillas, were discovered in underground rooms, along with three typewriters, several weapons and propaganda.

Printed on one side of a leaflet was a picture of a anti-Vietnam sit-in at the University of California at Berkeley. On the other side was the comment in English, "you are not the only one who wants to get out of Vietnam. Many people at home, professors, scientists, educators want you to get out too." The leaflets were apparently for distribution to U.S. troops.

Vessel Had Opened Fire

Northern Ship Violating Waters Reported Sunk by South Koreans

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea said its jet planes sank a small North Korean armed ship today when it intruded into southern waters, opened fire after orders to halt, and tried to flee.

The navy said one North Korean died of wounds after being picked up from the water. It said five others were taken to the port of Inchon after the sinking off the west coast.

The full extent of North Korean casualties was not known. No South Korean casualties were reported. But the air force said one of the 14 planes which set the 50-ton ship afire with napalm bombs came back with a Communist machine-gun bullet hole in the fuselage.

Seaman Killed

Communist shore batteries sank a 650-ton South Korean naval ship off the east coast Jan. 19, killing 40 South Korean seamen. The U.N. command conceded the ship was several miles north of the demilitarized zone and 3.5 to 5 miles off the North Korean coast, but said its location did not constitute a violation of the 1963 Korean armistice.

The South Korean Central Intelligence Agency said South Korean patrol boats spotted the North Korean ship today well south of the armistice line.

The patrol boats, including a destroyer escort, signaled and radioed the fast North Korean boat to halt, the agency said, but it opened fire and turned north to flee.

Milwaukee Transport Negotiations to Reopen

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Negotiations were scheduled to resume this afternoon as Milwaukee's bus strike entered its second week.

Neither the transport company nor the 1,200-member bus driver's union would speculate on how soon the walkout would end. The strike against the city's lone mass transit line has left an estimated 160,000 daily commuters without bus transportation.

Air force planes then were called in. It was the first known occasion that South Koreans used planes to sink a North Korean ship.

Create Tension

The U.N. command, meanwhile, declared that the North Koreans caused three ground armistice line clashes earlier this month in an attempt to create tensions for various reasons known to them.

The statement was in reply to North Korean charges Saturday that "ceaseless military provocations of the U.S. aggressors have increased tension in Korea to a higher pitch and led to an unbearable, grave stage."

A U.N. command spokesman said tension does not exist along the demilitarized zone which divides North and South Korea.

U.S. and South Korean officials say at least 11 North Koreans and one South Korean soldier have been killed in the ground clashes.

The North Koreans said they lost five men and denied that the other six dead men were from North Korea.

In the Jan. 19 sea battle off the east coast, North Korea said the South Korean boat opened fire first. The U.N. command denied this, saying the boat was on a nonhostile mission.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—Science has found a substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop burning itch and relieve pain without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this substance starts right in to gently shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by doctors in New York City, a Southern Clinic and a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all done without surgery, injections, narcotics or astringents of any kind.

The secret is this special substance (Bio-Dyne®)—and is obtainable only in Preparation H®. Preparation H also lubricates to make bowel movements less painful, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection (a principal cause of piles). No prescription is needed.

RFK's Popularity Reported in Slump

Has Alienated Older, Middle-Class Voters, According to Eastern Reports

BY ROWLAND EVANS and Robert Nevak

WASHINGTON — Behind the recent one million dollar grant by the Vincent Astor Foundation to build parks in the Brooklyn Negro slum of Bedford - Stuyvesant is a story dramatizing Senator Robert F. Kennedy's current political slump.

Officials of the Astor Foundation thought long and hard about making the grant and came within a hair of saying no. Why? Because the creator, sponsor, and moving force of the Bedford - Stuyvesant project happens to be Bobby Kennedy. Mrs. Astor telephoned New York's senior senator, Republican Jacob Javits, to inform him she wanted no part of a project — no matter how worthwhile — whose purpose might be construed as the aggrandizement of Kennedy. Only if Javits were to join him in the project, she said, would the grant be made. Earlier, several other members of the New York moneyed establishment approached for funds by Kennedy had expressed similar reservations to Javits.

Javits Accepts Kennedy for some time had been urging Javits to collaborate in the project in order to give it a bi-partisan, non-political tone. Considering Mrs. Astor's call and the inherent value of the project, Javits decided to accept, but first advised Governor Nelson Rockefeller what was going on.

Rockefeller objected vigorously. Bobby Kennedy is in a bad political slump, the governor told Javits. Why pull his chestnuts out of the fire in Bedford - Stuyvesant? Disregarding Rockefeller's advice, Javits agreed to join Kennedy as a board member of the corporation set up for the Bedford - Stuyvesant development. The Astor grant was made and, presumably, other contributions previously denied Kennedy will soon be unlocked.

But the point of the story transcends the Bedford - Stuyvesant development. Last autumn, with his prestige soaring, it would have been inconceivable for the moneyed people of New York to shy away from involvement with Kennedy in a social welfare project or for Nelson Rockefeller (a member of the walking wounded himself) to caution Javits against an alliance with him. The episode is a clear sign that Bobby's high-flying 1966 boom has become a slump in 1967.

Besides, as Kennedy correctly remarked last October at the height of the Bobby boom, every politician has his ups and downs in popularity. Yet, the roots of the slump may lie deeper, as evidenced by the fact that some of the very Democratic politicians who were singing his praises a few months ago are talking differently today. Traveling in every section of the country the last three months, we have found a pronounced cooling of Kennedy sentiment. Indeed, some Democratic polls today confide that the Kennedy of the future might turn out to be brother Teddy.

Alienates Elders These politicians have an explanation for the slump that goes beyond Vietnam. They feel Kennedy has so identified himself with a student generation particularly alienated from their elders that Kennedy himself tends to alienate the older generation — particularly middle-class whites, whose votes decide elections.

but his staff is convinced it goes over well on the college campus and with youth generally. And for the future, they say, that is where the votes are. Therein lies a calculated risk. Will today's youth stick with Kennedy as they grow older? Or, as they take on mortgages and wives, will they become as stuffy and middle-class as their parents are today.

In all probability, Kennedy will not run for President until 1972, at which time he will be 47 years old and perhaps not quite the idol of the young that he is today. That is why the Democratic politicians who are friendly to Kennedy are far more concerned than his personal staff about long-term implications of his current slump.

City Officials Find State's Larder Bare In Bid for Tax Aids

Knowles Sympathetic to Mayors, Promises Study by Task Force

Post-Crescent Staff Bureau
MADISON — City officials found the state's larder as empty as Mother Hubbard's cupboard when they appeared in the executive office of Gov. Warren P. Knowles recently, seeking support for their drive to win increased state aids for urban areas of Wisconsin.

"How do we do it? Where do we get the money?" asked Knowles, facing a roomful of city officials and observers, drawn by the meeting between the state's executive officer and the executives of most of the state's major cities.

They represented the informal Alliance for Cities, which has been lobbying for an increased portion of the tax-sharing pie in the future for the state's most urbanized and densely populated areas.

Some Justification
"There is some justification for a good, solid look at this area," said Knowles, who described himself as being in sympathy with the aims of the mayors, aldermen and city managers. "But you men are realistic enough to know that you are not going to take anything away from anyone."

The Alliance is working on the basis of legislation proposed in part by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, the City of Milwaukee and with some new measures as well. They have submitted a package of bills which are designed to redive future state tax earnings above the level currently collected and distributed locally by the State Department of Taxation.

Meeting Representation
Present at the meeting were 14 city managers from 10 municipalities. James Morgan, head of the tax department, and Ed Johnson, executive director of the League.

The Alliance contingent was headed by Madison Mayor Otto Festge, Alliance chairman, and included Mayor Donald Tilleman, Green Bay Angus Crawford, Oshkosh city manager, and Fond du Lac city manager Henry Buslee.

The group outlined for Knowles six proposals which have been made to the Legislature. The proposals call for changes in utility tax distribution, future school aid disbursements and highway aid sharing formulas, for unilateral annexation measures to provide incorporation of outlying areas into cities and for state sharing of costs caused by state institutions and universities within municipalities.

City's Gain
Knowles asked Green Bay's Tilleman whether cities gain from the placement of the institutions — such as the proposed University of Wisconsin — Green Bay campus.

"These are all pretty good smokeless industries. Don't thought enough of them to give a good size tract of land to get one," the Governor said.

Tilleman agreed that benefits come to cities hosting such facilities, but agreed that increased costs result to the municipalities as well.

"I do think the state has an obligation to communities large and small in many areas," being discussed, he said. "It's a two-way street."

Municipal problems will be caused by the placement of the new branch campus in Green Bay, he agreed. Festge had said the University of Wisconsin in Madison causes increased police costs due to the special nature and size of the student population. He also said the size and special nature of UW buildings cause fire department expenditures that would not be faced by a Madison which lacked the campus.

Morgan reported that the tax-redistribution package and new tax plans presented by the Alliance would cost the state an additional $102 million during the coming biennium.

Knowles repeated his sympathies to the officials. He told them a bill passed this week by the Assembly after earlier clearing the Senate will be signed as soon as it arrives in his office. The bill creates a special task force to study tax redistribution.

The task force will be appointed the day the bill is signed, he promised.

Early Opposition
The Alliance had earlier opposed the idea of such a study, claiming the state had in the past avoided the need for such action by other studies and that necessary information for the moves was on hand. The tax department disagreed, calling their information dated.

The Republican-controlled Legislature changed the completion date from the end of 1968 to January, 1969 — with the provision for earlier completion if possible.

Democrats charged that the GOP was attempting to avoid releasing the report before the 1968 election.

The Alliance called on the Legislature and Knowles to force completion of the study this fall, and for a special session of the Legislature to work on its findings.

Date Accepted
After the meeting with Knowles, Festge reported acceptance of the later date for the study. Knowles had told the mayors during the meeting that the tax levels which must be reached before their proposed redistribution would take effect will not be reached much before the completion rate no matter what is done on the study.

Festge and the mayors told Knowles that they desire to cooperate on the study having lost their point about the scheduling.

Knowles and Morgan welcomed their cooperation.

In a statement issued following the session, Knowles again raised the question of the origin of the $102 million which Morgan states is needed to fulfill the mayors' requests.

The only partial answer was given by Racine Mayor William Beyer. He suggested that the sales tax should be expanded if necessary to provide the funds, rather than raise property taxes for local services. He gained little support from the politically-minded group.

Resignation Reconsidered By Carson

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Carson, who left his "Tonight" show during the AFTRA strike, then decided not to come back, is reconsidering.

"Money was not the main consideration," Carson said Sunday in an interview, "although naturally, this always comes up. There might be some changes in personnel on the program."

The comedian, who has a $15,000 a week contract with NBC, said his attorneys would discuss several issues with network representatives today.

Carson said his return "depends on whether the NBC people and my representatives can work out our differences at the first of the week. If they do, there is a possibility that I will return to the show. They would like me to come back, and I would probably do so if everything is all right."

Carson had charged that the network breached his contract when it used taped reruns of his shows during the 13-day strike of the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists this month.

Joey Bishop Premieres Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

10:30-12 (Channels 11-9) — The Joey Bishop Show premieres live from Hollywood with guests Danny Thomas, Debbie Reynolds and Nancy Wilson. The setting and theater are brand new, but in the same familiar style as the Carson and Griffin telecasts. Highlights of this debut will come from unheralded interruptions from several of Joey's army of Hollywood friends and cohorts, all top names and talents including Governor Ronald Reagan.

7:30-9:30 (Channels 11-4) — One of the great tragedies of modern explorations is vividly re-created on Robert Scott and The Race for the South Pole. During his 1910-12 expedition to Antarctica, Captain Scott and a team of four struggled through natural horrors trying to become the first men to reach the Pole. One tragic circumstance after another visited them and none ever returned to the base camp. The ABC film crew spent several months on the seas and on the southernmost continent, retracing every step of the journey.

6:30-7 (Channel 5) — A funny turnabout highlights The Monkees and their campaign to kick the pedestal from under a conceited movie idol.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-4-9) — Iron Horse has a villain as menacing as any on Batman. Henry Darrow plays "Cougar Man," a renegade Apache and former Army Scout who hates pioneers. When he cuts down five of Dale Robertson's track laborers, you know a duel is in the wind.

7:30-8 (Channel 5) — Jeannie's jealousy gets everybody into trouble on I Dream of Jeannie, even herself. It begins with Mrs. Bellow's suspicions over Tony's added weight. "No bachelor eating home alone can gain weight," she theorizes.

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — The Kraft Music Hall is positively this season's most unique prime-time show for a single reason. It will be the telecast live because of the AFTRA strike, Perry Como and company were deprived of their normal rehearsal time but determined to go on live if the strike was settled. Although there has been enough time to tape it, Como decided to try it live anyway and that's what you'll see. Comedian George Carlin and song stylist Nancy Wilson are Perry's guests along with the regular Ray Charles Singers and Danny Daniels Dancers.

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — Martin Milner and a mental break-up highlight Run For Your Life in an episode made notable by its imaginative film techniques. Milner plays a veteran and former prisoner of the Viet Cong, hospitalized for rest and rehabilitation. When he suffers a mental relapse and escapes, Paul Bryan has to rescue him physically and then mentally.

Successful 'Fling' Toasted at Party

There were smiles everywhere Saturday evening at the party marking the close of a successful Spring Fling '67. Still basking in the appreciative applause of the Saturday night audience, performers, crew and Junior Woman's club members who had worked for months on the project gathered at the Elks Club to more or less put 'Fling' to rest.

Ended were the days of soliciting program ads and calling potential patrons. Finished were the countless committee meetings planning both the show and ways of engaging community support. Over were the two weeks of concentrated rehearsals and bouts with balky muscles straining for perfection.

All that was left was a smile for a job undertaken with gusto and finished with great satisfaction.

Fun Awards

The party was strictly informal, with a few awards given to performers, 'just for fun'.

The highlight was the announcement by Fling chairman Mrs. Maynard Burstein that 'Fling' had accomplished results beyond the hopes of the 76 Junior Woman's Club members who had pledged the show proceeds to the new Family Service Association of the Fox Cities, Inc. The group figured on a profit of $5,000 and hoped for $6 or $7,000. At the party it was announced that the proceeds would be close to $9,000. The applause from those who had worked so hard was greater and more heartfelt than any given during the show, for the amount means that Family Service will become a reality and that all the months of effort had accomplished the goal.

Praise Helpers

Among the smiles there was not a single "We did it." Members of the Junior Woman's Club, instead, one after another, commented, "We couldn't have done it without the wonderful help of everyone in the community. All the merchants and people who made donations, all those who bought tickets, everyone we asked, was responsible. We can't say enough about them all."

Director Jud Davis, above center, told Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Steinberg that his next assignment is in Fall River, Mass. Mr. Davis directed the two-day production with local talent for Jerome H. Cargill of New York. At left, relaxing from two weeks of concentrated rehearsal, Mrs. Richard Adams, Mrs. Donna Londre, Richard Reetz and Mrs. Eugene Gancs. Proceeds from Fling exceeded the expectations of the Junior Woman's Club, which has pledged the amount to the new Family Service Association of the Fox Valley, Inc. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Not everyone owns a set, or even a part of one, but it would be difficult to imagine a homemaker to whom the name 'Haviland' and fine china were not synonymous. Since 1842, when the firm was founded, women in every walk of life, from the wives of presidents and monarchs, to the average homemaker, have treasured ownership of Haviland china and used it as a gauge for quality.

Wednesday and Thursday Frederick Haviland, great-grandson of the founder of Haviland and Co. Inc., Limoges, France, will be at the H. C. Prange Co., bringing with him a collector's exhibit that will include a banquet table setting once used in the Palais de l'Elysee, Paris, for state occasions.

Also on display will be china used in the White House in 1877; sets made for British Monarchs Edward VII, George VI and Elizabeth II; a set given to Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938 by the people of France, and a replica of the Martha Washington plate, which Haviland was commissioned to manufacture in 1876 to celebrate the centenary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

To Mayor's Wife

Mr. Haviland will present to Mrs. George Buckley, wife of Appleton's mayor, a replica of this plate at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

The original 'Martha Washington' or 'States' china, was a gift to Lady Washington in 1796 from Andreas Everardus Van Braam Houckgust, a Dutchman and representative of the East India Company. The service of about 45 pieces was made on special order in China.

The plate is decorated with a circular chain bearing the names of the 15 states in the union at that time. The snake with its tail in its mouth is a Chinese symbol of continuity and symbolizes the perpetuity of the union.

Is Translucent
The tradition of fine china is one that has become as much a part of the Haviland firm as it is of families who pass their sets proudly from generation to generation. Mr. Haviland says that fine china can be identified by holding it up to the light. If it is translucent and outlines of objects can be seen through it, it is true china. Earthenware is opaque.

An American

Although based in France, the Haviland firm actually was founded by an American, David Haviland, who lived in New York City and had earned some local fame as a retail china merchant importing quality china from England. Asked to replace a broken teacup, he became intrigued by the quality and delicacy of the china, and traveled from city to city in France seeking its equal. In Limoges, where a deposit of Kaolin, finest china clay had been discovered, he found the match.

Because of their limited facilities, local artisans refused to make the new shapes and patterns Haviland asked for his 'Yankee' customers. Undaunted, he moved to France and set up his own factory in Limoges, making china to his own taste, and marked with his name. His first shipment was made in 1842.

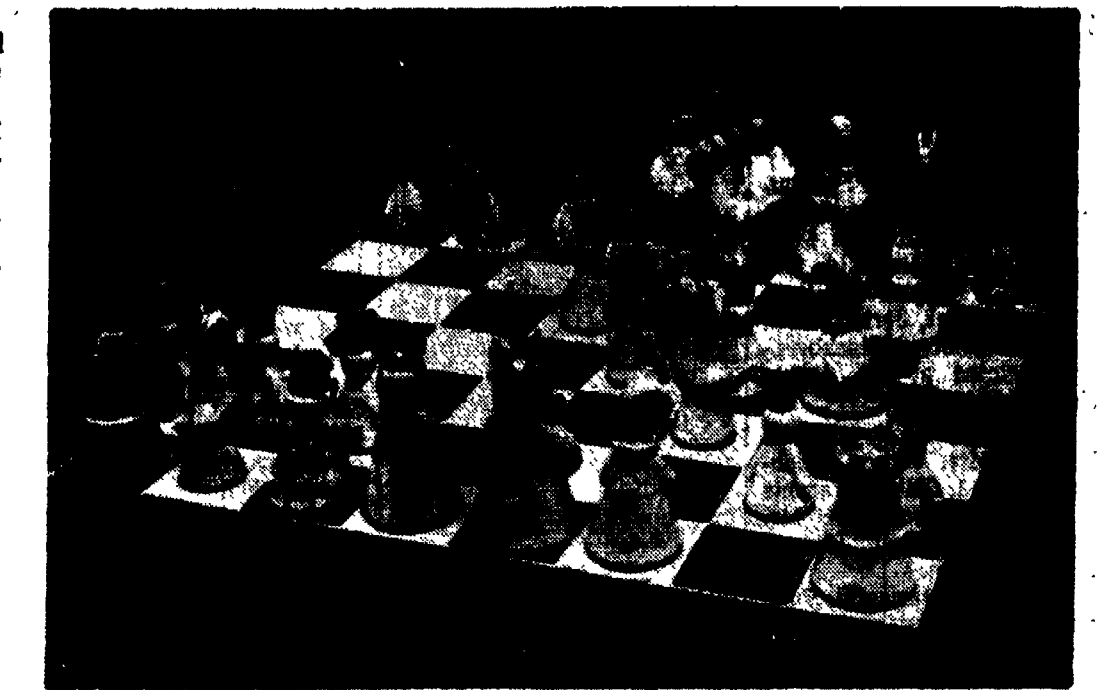

In 1890 David's son, Theodore, was responsible for the building of one of the largest and best factories in Limoges. Many collector's pieces today carry the name, Theo. Haviland.

Kept Citizenship

Frederick Haviland points out with some pride that although four generations of Havilands have guided the business in Limoges, none gave up their American citizenship.

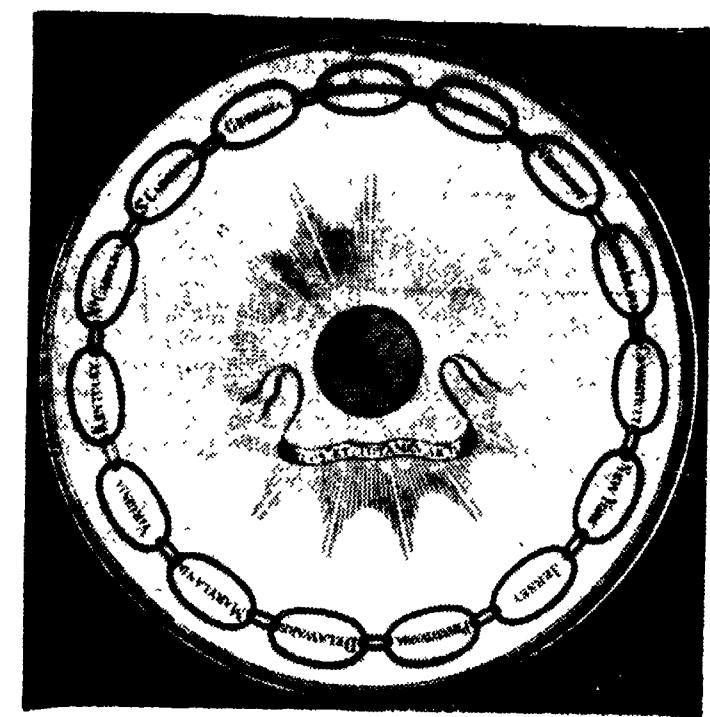

Since its founding, Mr. Haviland notes, his company has made about 60,000 different patterns. Much sold as 'open stock' 50 or 75 years ago has ceased to exist. Those wishing to obtain replacements for broken pieces he advises to fill in with companion patterns, saying that the popular gold band style goes well with any other pattern.

During his two days in Appleton, Mr. Haviland will autograph Haviland giftware and answer the questions of area women about china design, collection and care.

It Took Two Years of modeling and designing to achieve the creation of the china chess set above, to be shown for the first time in this country. Only 100 sets have been made and many have been purchased by collectors. The only known china chess set was designed by artist Jean Jacques Prolongeau in 1963.

The Martha Washington plate will be among rare and historically significant china shown Wednesday and Thursday by the great-grandson of the founder of Haviland and Co., Inc. The plate was made in 1876, in honor of the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Frederick Haviland, vice president of Haviland and Co., Inc., will be at the H. C. Prange Co. Wednesday and Thursday with an exhibit of rare china.

Lawyers' Wives Elect Officers At Annual County Luncheon

Mrs. Charles Banker, social chairman, was hostess at the luncheon. Program chairman was Mrs. Leroy Stohlman.

Mrs. J. P. Frank, above right, speaker at the annual luncheon of the Lawyers' Wives of Outagamie County Wednesday at Butte des Morts Golf Club is joined at the head table by Mrs. Robert Bachman, Mrs. Charles Banker and Mrs. Hugh Nelson, president. Guests at the program included state officers. Talking at left are Mrs. Donald Galloway, Green Bay, state secretary and president of the Lawyers' Wives of Brown County; Mrs. Arthur Hansmann, Racine, state treasurer; Mrs. Harold Bravick, Appleton, president-elect; Mrs. Donald Swetz, a Kaukauna member, and Mrs. A. L. Bateman, Milwaukee, state president-elect.

Your Problems

Lack of Communication Places Marriage on Shaky Ground

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a psychiatrist who is in many ways a fine man and a good father. Our problem is communication. He refuses to talk to me about our areas of disagreement, even though his basic professional tenets emphasize the need for communication. When I ask him to tell me what is bothering him he says, "I don't care to discuss it."

I have suggested that we see a marriage counselor together. He refuses on two grounds. First: "How would it look?" Second: "Marriage counselors don't have the psychiatric or psychoanalytical training that I have. How can they help me?"

I am no romantic. I realize that perfect communication be-between two people is rare, but our relationship is on precarious ground because my husband will not talk to me about our problems.

He doesn't admire many people, but he has often said he respects your common sense. Do you have some advice that might help us both? — California Cry For Help

Dear California: Another case where the shoemaker's kids are going barefoot. I have repeatedly pointed out the difference between possessing know-how and having the ability to apply it to one's own life.

How many physicians do you know who are grossly overweight — or smoking themselves to death — or drinking heavily? I know a bright insurance man whose home was vandalized recently, and he was not covered.

Your husband is one of many who is unable to use what he knows. Since you wrote, you are obviously the one who is troubled. I suggest that you go to a counselor alone. You need an outlet for your bottled frustrations.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from the girl who was left stranded and pregnant by the sailor who claimed he loved her until he found out she was in a family way. The sad victim suggested that every girl, before she consents to sleep with her boy friend, ask him to sign a paper saying he slept with her on such and such a night. Her opinion was that he would change his mind in a hurry.

You requested the girls in your reading audience with persistent boy friends to try out the

Be Prepared for Hike In Cost of Foodstuffs

SYLVIA PORTER
Democratic Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, has seriously proposed a new food labeling system under which each package of food we buy would bear a label stating how much of the price is going to the U.S. farmer.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman has called for new restrictions on imports of dairy products, at a time when quotas could have explosive political-economic implications.

Infuriated U.S. dairy farmers have tried milk-dumping campaigns in an attempt to drive up a price they receive for milk. Just these three news items dramatize the fact that the American farmer again is in a ghastly economic squeeze — for although he made unimpeachable strides in catching up to a non-farm worker last year, a leveling off of food prices is continually skyrocketing the cost of operation are hitting him hard in 1967.

Machinery Prices
Just since 1959, farm machinery prices have risen a full 24 per cent and labor cost are up 35 per cent. Feed grain prices also have been in a sharp upswing.

In addition, he's fighting severe farm labor shortages, intense local competition and growing competition from food imports from abroad. Last year alone, dairy imports jumped 300 per cent.

Despite all the progress the farmer has made during this decade, consider these facts:

— Even with last year's overall 15 per cent income post, the farmer still nets only a per capita average of $1.73 in yearly earnings, a full 60 per cent below average earnings of the non-farmer.

— Even though retail food prices last year rose to 35 per cent above the 1947-49 average, prices paid to farmers for the food we bought actually were 2 per cent below those paid in 1947-49. Today, the farmer receives only 5 1/2 per cent of the U.S. consumer's total after-tax income for his products — one-half the share he received in 1947.

— Even though our spending for farm-originated foods has soared $40 billion since 1947-49, less than one-fourth of this increase has gone to the farmer. For every food dollar you spend today, the farmer gets only 40 cents — 10 cents less than he received two decades ago.

— Even though a significant number of big U.S. farmers are making record profits today, a far more significant number are being pushed over the brink of poverty. Just in the past eight years, the number of U.S. dairy

U.S. Individual Income Taxpayers

Ask IRS

Q — I sold shares of stock in when I file my Federal tax a company I have been invest- ing in for years. How do I identify the purchase price of the shares I sold since I bought them at various times at various prices?

A — The principle that applies here when no other price identification can be made is "first-in, first out." In other words, consider the shares you sold first to be the first ones you bought and use their cost, the next shares you bought to be the second ones you sold and so on.

Q — I received some dividends last year I was not entitled to because they were declared after I sold the stock. I returned the dividend check but I now have a copy of a statement showing the amount as having been paid to me. Should I ignore this statement?

A — Only report the correct amount of dividends on your return. You should also notify the corporation paying the dividends of the error in their statement so a correction can be made. An explanation of the error should also be attached to your return.

Q — Can I deduct the Federal tax shown on my monthly phone bill?

Breathholding Is Way Of Getting Attention

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a daughter, 4, and a son, 13 months. Since eight months the boy has begun to hold his breath, usually when he cries, or we walk away from him when he wants to be held, or his sister takes a toy from him.

Our doctor advised slapping him, throwing water in his face or ignoring him, and thinks it is probably temper.

When we ignore him he turns blue, his eyes roll back and he becomes unconscious. Then Breathholding, generally regarded as one form of temper tantrum, is a trick which some children stumble onto. Why they do it the first time, I don't know, but when they get a lot of attention that first time, they keep on.

The eight pages of your letter (which I am not printing) do not contain a solitary thing which doesn't sound entirely normal for a child his age.

Ignoring a child who holds his breath is the best treatment, in my opinion. It is quite common for these breath-holders to keep on until they become unconscious. Then they relax and promptly begin to breathe automatically. In other words, nature protects them from harming themselves.

A dash of cold water or an ice cold towel is all right if, for some reason, you want to snap him out of this quickly. I have reservations against slapping which, in your case, does no good anyway.

Don't ask me what kind of tests he will have at the children's hospital because I'm not convinced that he needs any. The question, rather, is how many tests your husband will demand before he is convinced that this is an emotional quirk, not an organic trouble. Frankly I can't think of any organic ailment which causes a child to hold his breath when his parents are around, but not when his aunt is taking care of him.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend who reads books on naturopathy advised me to do certain exercises on a slant board to correct a mild hernia. About the time I purchased the board I learned that I also have a hiatus hernia. Do you think my exercises on the slant board are advisable? — L.M.

No, I don't think exercises will do anything to correct any type of hernia.

Note to J.H.: Infectious hepatitis would have no connection with gout. You ask why the blood bank will not accept donations even though the hepatitis no longer exists. It is a precaution — it is difficult to be certain that you may not have some hepatitis virus remaining dormant that could harm someone else even though you no longer are bothered by it. You can compare it (if you don't try to draw too close a simile) to a "carrier" of various germs. You will not give the disease to anyone else by contact, but giving a blood transfusion might harm someone. So we play safe.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Petition Favors Mielke Land As School Site

9th Ward Residents Expected to File Plea With City

A petition favoring the Mielke property as an elementary school site over the Roeland property was circulated Sunday by a number of 9th Ward residents, the area most affected by the final selection.

The number of signatures collected was not available this morning but the petition is expected to be filed with the city clerk by Wednesday, in time to be presented to the council at its meeting Wednesday night and prior to the meeting between Dr. Edward Mielke and the School Land Acquisition Committee Thursday.

Argue Site

The question of which site to purchase for a future elementary school has been batted back and forth between the school board and the city council for some time.

The 48 acres of land finally purchased from H. and J. Roeland for slightly less than $3,000 an acre by the council, received criticism from the school board, which holds an option on the Mielke property, totaling about 12½ acres at $3,600 per acre.

The southwest corner of the Mielke land is less than a quarter of a mile from the northeast corner of the Roeland property.

According to the school board, the purchase of the Roeland property was made without consulting the board.

Alderman Comments

Alderman-elect James Bethke (9th), said today he favors the Mielke property because of its central location and because it is further away from the proposed expressway.

"It amazes me that the Roeland property was purchased without consulting the school board," he said.

"I am aware of the council's claim that the Roeland property costs less than the Mielke land but it seems to me it will cost a great deal more for the council if the school board doesn't approve the site and the land will lie idle," he added.

Three Employees Admit Thefts at Treasure Island

Three 17-year-old boys were referred to juvenile authorities after they admitted to Outagamie County sheriff's investigators that they took part in thefts from Treasure Island where they were employed.

Investigators said that several other youths will be questioned in connection with the thefts. Some of the stolen merchandise has been recovered that court prosecutions can be carried on for nearly two months, it was learned.

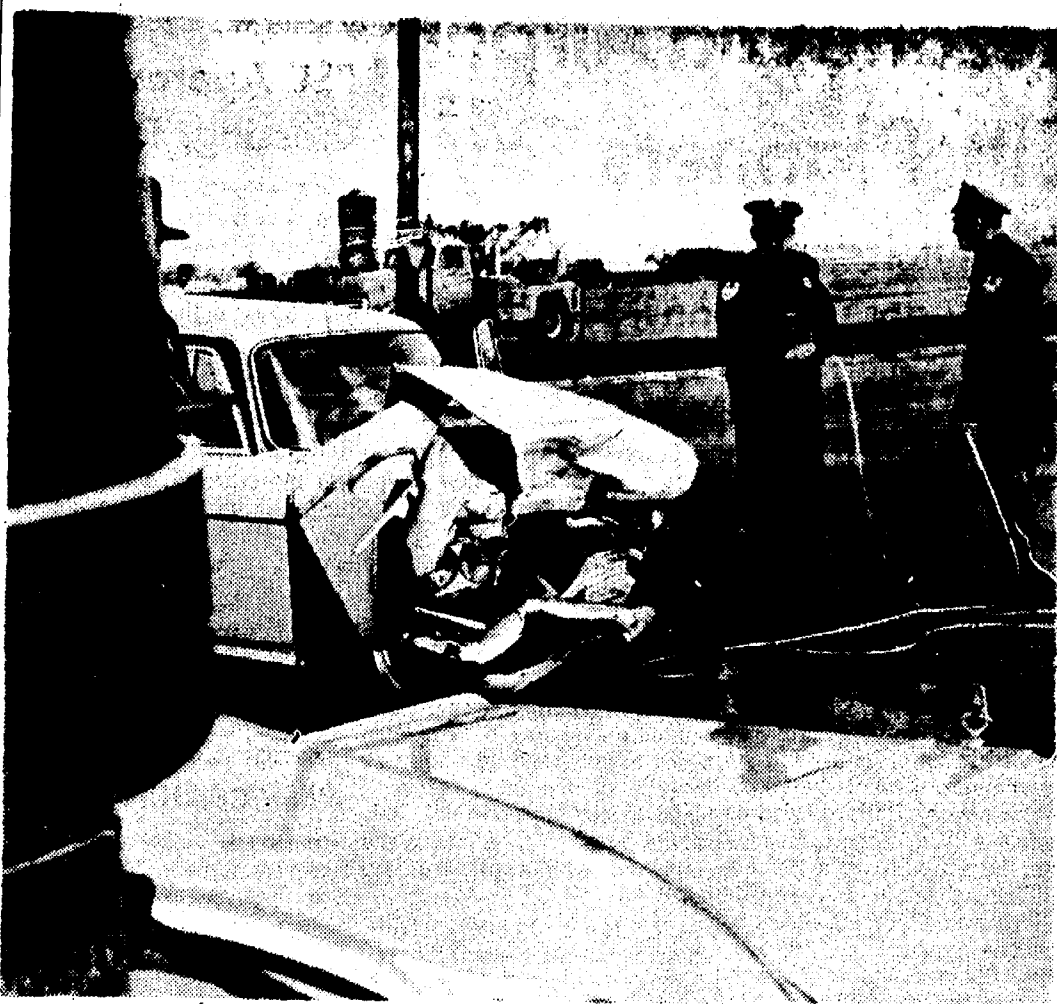

Authorities said that a "get tough" policy has been instituted on employee thefts, and added that court prosecution can be expected.

Appleton Man, 73, Dies Of Heart Attack at Home This Morning

Jacob Heimermann, 73, 902 N. Morrison St., died at his home after suffering an apparent heart attack about 7:45 a.m. today.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was called to the home and attempted to revive the victim. A doctor pronounced Heimermann dead at the home.

The body was released to the Ellenbecker - Brown Funeral Home where arrangements are pending.

Judith Nelson, 23, route 1, Neenah, suffered severe head and leg injuries about 8 a.m. today when her 1960 auto rammed into the rear wheel of a large semi-trailer truck at W. Spencer Street and U.S. 41. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Larry's Ambulance. At the scene, framed by the flasher light of a squad car, are Outagamie County patrolman Irv Partika and Conrad Schadler, who said the Nelson car was northbound on 41 when it struck the milk truck owned by Consolidated Badger Co-Op of Shawano. The truck had been southbound on 41 and was turning east onto Spencer. Only the wheel was damaged on the truck. (Post-Crescent Photo by Paul Herzfeldt)

Planners Support Idea for Park, School Site Donations

Ordinance Affecting Annexed Areas Proposed for Appleton

A public sites and open space ordinance aimed at getting subdivisions to include school and park land in their plats won support of the Appleton Planning Commission today.

The ordinance, the first to be introduced in the Fox Valley, received strong support from city and regional planners.

Under its terms, developers will be required to donate land, or money in lieu thereof for a non-lapsing fund, for park, recreation and school sites in new areas coming into the city.

Court Upholds

The ordinance, upheld in a Wisconsin Supreme Court decision three years ago, is used by some communities in the Milwaukee area. Its use is common

City Plans

They questioned why the city has to pay out "huge sums of money" to purchase land, park sites as has been the practice in many instances. However, the commission did note some developers in the Appleton area have donated park sites to the city in the past to enhance projects and accelerate their growth.

Questioned whether the ordinance would bring a halt to voluntary annexations and put a financial hardship on developers, city planners thought not.

It was pointed out that if a developer decides to keep his property outside the city, then under state law he has to have half and one-acre lots. But in the city he can divide the land into more and smaller lots because of the municipal services available.

City Planner Walter Rasmusen said land values near the city were highly inflated. He felt the ordinance would tend to stabilize land prices.

Lightning Causes Power Failures; Rains Flood Streets, Basements; Twister Hammers Southern Farms

Heavy rainfall, accompanied early today. Total rainfall in by a severe electric storm late Chilton from noon Saturday Sunday and early today, result until 7 a.m. today was 2.5 ed in several power failures and inches.

The first major storm of the spring season brought as much as two inches of rain and had thousands of people wary during the night because of a tornado watch in effect until 2:30 a.m. today.

While no tornadoes were reported in the Valley, a funnel cloud hammered two short stretches of farmland in south-central Wisconsin and then vanished after slipping harmlessly past Monroe.

Power Failed

The storm resulted in extensive power failures in Appleton, Menasha, Village of Kimberly, the Town of Freedom and the Town of Harrison.

Appleton's major power failure occurred about 8:40 a.m. today when a tree fell over a 34,500-volt transmission line near Wisconsin Michigan Power Company's gas plant substation on N. Water Street.

Heavy Fox River current during recent weeks had been washing away riverbank soil near the substation, exposing roots on the tree. A major wind gust at 8:40 a.m. toppled the tree. The transmission line fell on a 4,160-volt distribution line, causing both to go out.

Power failures were experienced for varying times in Appleton's downtown College Avenue area. The longest power outage was for about 35 minutes in the E. College Avenue area in the vicinity of Lawrence University.

Reroute Lines

The rest of the downtown area had two brief power outages — for three minutes and then for about 40 seconds. Power was restored by rerouting distribution lines.

All Appleton police radio communications went out, but point to point contact was made with the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department. An auxiliary electrical generating system was used at the fire department and it kept the fire alarm system working.

The heaviest rainfall, apparently, was in the Chilton-Hilbert area. In Chilton, rainfall measured two inches from 4 p.m. Sunday until the storm ended.

Final approval of a million-dollar nursing home development on Appleton's southside was delayed by the plan commission today at the request of St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Recently, the commission granted K. T. Wakefield and Associates, Milwaukee, a setback waiver and the matter went to the city council for final okay.

But Ald. John MacDonald (7th) had the matter referred back to the commission, indicating hospital authorities requested the action.

The nursing home would be built on the west side of Madison Street in the area of the hospital.

Mayor George Buckley informed the commission this morning the hospital's board of directors would not meet until May 17 and wanted any further action held off until then.

The nursing home project has no tie-in with the hospital, but it has been claimed some assumptions were apparently made.

The Milwaukee developer was not represented at today's meeting.

The commission also: —Recommended rezoning from single to two-family a lot on the northwest corner of Meade and Lindbergh Streets to permit ranch-style duplex apartment construction.

—Voted to waive rear yard requirements on the north side of Wisconsin Avenue between Kenilworth Avenue and Owassa Street.

—Approved a proposed bulkhead line on the south side of the Fox River between Lawe and Carpenter Streets near the Fox River Paper Co. The state will conduct a public hearing at city hall Thursday at 8:30 a.m.

Norbertine Gives Views

Priests Launch Own Celibacy Study

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Alfred McBride, O. Praem., leaned back in his chair in a reception room at The Catholic University of America, where he is a visiting professor of religion on leave from St. Norbert's College, De Pere, lighted his pipe, and began talking about the need of a study of optional celibacy for the diocesan clergy.

A member of the national advisory board of the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, Father McBride is what one might call a "character member" of the organization which is dedicated to conducting a thorough study of the subject of mandatory celibacy in the priesthood.

"We decided to start the association the day after Thanksgiving last year in St. Louis," Father McBride said, "hastily adding that he couldn't say where he and other members met in St. Louis."

"It might be embarrassing to some if I told where the meeting took place," he explained, "but let me say that it was not at St. Louis University, just in case some might get that idea."

Send Letters "Since that time we have sent letters to priests and laymen throughout the country — about 10,000, I would say, and have received replies from over 2,000, who are interested in the aims of the association," the priest said.

"We are quite encouraged, because that seems to be a high percentage of replies. And they are still coming in."

Frankly acknowledging that he welcomed the opportunity to talk about the association through the media of the press, Father McBride commented, his eyes twinkling at little, "We want publicity. We want to get as many persons as possible interested in the subject of optional celibacy — permitting priests to marry and still serve the church in the capacity of priests. We want laymen, seminarians, nuns, and I guess the public generally to become interested in our study. And we also want to obtain studies on the sociological aspects of such a change."

Bishops Meet As the priest, who is a pioneer of ideas, was talking, the National Conference of Bishops meeting in Chicago, was taking a double-edged stand on optional celibacy.

According to reports out of the conference, the bishops turned down the proposition of optional celibacy, but issued a directive that the subject of priestly celibacy will be examined in detail by a newly-formed Committee of Pastoral Research and Policies.

"We hope to have the study of the celibacy issue on the agenda when the bishops convene this fall," Father McBride said. "But don't misunderstand me — we don't expect any resolution of the proposal any time soon," he added.

A symposium is being planned at Notre Dame University in the fall, and Father McBride will speak at this event.

Stressing that any change in the celibacy rules of the Church could bring about a "structural change," Father McBride said any recommendations for the change should be backed up with "first rate material."

In doing this, Father McBride and other members of the association's advisory board are, in effect, acting as the Devil's Advocate on their own ideas.

Tackle Problems "We are facing up to all the arguments or reasons against optional celibacy, and are seeking out these reasons," he explained. He hopes to find a solution to whatever problems might arise, in case the Vatican ever considered removal of the prohibition against marriage for diocesan clergy.

One problem would be financial, according to Father

McBride, who said it might be hard for a parish to support a priest's family. He pointed out that although non-Catholic churches were able to raise funds for their pastors and their families without too much difficulty, these same Protestant congregations were not called upon to give extensive financial support to educational institutions, as are Catholic parishes.

One answer to this problem, he suggested, might be the establishment of an ordinate of both married and unmarried priests in a separate structure of the church. Although members of such an ordinate would have a bishop, they would work in different parts of the nation, largely in an academic capacity.

"We hope to gain information on the problems of married clergy from other groups, and also intend to ask the Protestants about it," the

Concerts, Art Exhibit Set For Tuesday

A joint band concert and art exhibit is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Roosevelt Junior High and a band concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Einstein Junior High.

The art exhibit which will be displayed in the halls, is being organized by Francis Conrad and Mrs. Judie Stang, Roosevelt art instructors. The concert and cadet bands will appear in the concert, which will be conducted by Martin Kurka, Roosevelt band director.

Both concert and cadet bands, including more than 200 pupils, will perform under the direction of Sam R. Ostwald, at the Einstein program.

There is no admission charge for either event.

Last Minute Rehearsals are being conducted at Roosevelt and Einstein junior high schools, which will present their annual concerts at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, with Roosevelt planning an art exhibit in conjunction with the arts festival. Brushing up on their solo number for the Roosevelt concert are, from left, Gary Simpson, David Tebo and Tom Gleason.

Ruling Might Reverse School District Plan

Current Map Formed Along County Lines

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH - MENASHA — The "hold action" on the formation of District 12's area technical institute was untethered today with hope for the proponents of forming the district on school district lines.

When the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education meets at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Milwaukee Institute it is expected to act on forming District 12 on school district lines. If it does, it will reverse the action it took on Feb. 20 to create District 12 on county lines, to include Calumet, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago counties.

This action is made possible by a statement from the office of Attorney General Bronson La Follette to the state board that a county board could act for a portion of a county if that small portion was taken out for another school district.

The state board had not been clear, for example, as to what would happen in District 12 if the Seymour School District were one of the 25 school districts making up District 12, since a portion of this district is located in Brown County.

If the state vocational board should act on Tuesday to approve forming District 12 on school district lines, it could mean that the presidents of the boards of education of 25 school districts within the four county area, or a committee appointed by them, would appoint the board for the area vocational and technical institute.

The Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCH), which meets May 11 at Madison, would also have to approve forming District 12 on school district lines.

Eugene Lehmann, state board assistant director, Madison, explained today that such action, if taken by the state board and CCH, would permit District 12 to proceed in the matter of appointing the area institute board in accordance with the present law Chapter 202, 41.155 Vocational, Technical and Adult Education Districts.

If Bill 19-A, which calls for revision of the original Chapter 202, is passed in the present legislature, the state board and CCH actions would remain unchanged. It is expected that if the state board does act Tuesday to approve the formation of District 12 on school district lines that action on Bill 19-A, which remains in the education committee of the legislature, will be speeded up.

This bill advances the original

Examine Sanitary Facilities

Man Buys $10,000 Lake Lot But He Can't Build on Land

OSHKOSH — A prospective home owner has purchased a residential lot on Lake Butte des Morts for $10,000, but he may not be able to build a home on it for many years.

His dilemma is one that may face many potential home builders who have purchased or are thinking of purchasing building lots along the lakes and rivers in Winnebago County.

The particular lot which went for $10,000 is located in the Shangri-La Point area on Lake Butte des Morts, west of Oshkosh. The purchaser discovered, after the purchase, that he cannot install a septic tank system on the land.

He just found that out this past week from Carl Mailahn, county zoning officer. Mailahn said buyers of land near lakes and streams ought to make sure a septic tank can be used before buying the land.

Three major factors can be the cause of a site not being suitable for septic tanks. The main reason in the lakes area is the level of the water table. A second reason is unsuitable soil and a third, insufficient size of the drainage field.

If the water table is too high, the effluent from the septic tank rises to the surface of the ground, resulting in a potential health hazard and in pollution of the lake or stream.

When soil is not permeable a septic tank will not work properly. Also, in the rapidly expanding residential areas near Oshkosh along the lakes many of the building lots are too small for good septic tank operation. With houses fairly close together, the drainage fields soon become saturated and the septic tanks again fail to work.

Strengthen Codes

The county has now adopted a policy of declining to issue permits until a percolation test is made in areas of questionable soil quality. A percolation test determines the ability of soil to absorb the effluent.

Mailahn and the county zoning committee are presently working on strengthening county codes in respect to septic tanks. A new state law on zoning around lakes and streams also goes into effect next Jan. 1.

Through the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission and the Soil Conservation Department, it is expected that a soil survey map will be made for Winnebago County which will show the areas where septic tanks may or may not be usable.

The areas most affected in Winnebago County are along Lakes Winnebago, Butte des Morts and Poygan where the population pressure is mounting. Mailahn said he could see the day when new home construction along those lakes may be banned unless sanitary districts are formed.

Library Plans For Open House

KAUKAUNA — An open house will be held from 6.30 to 8.30 p.m. Wednesday at the library in conjunction with National Library week, according to Mrs. Richard Clapp, librarian.

Friends of the Library members will serve coffee and punch during the open house and the high school Photography Club will set up an exhibit. The children's department, not normally open Wednesday evening, will be open for tours.

Throughout the week library facilities will be promoted through window displays in the city.

Prison Guards Can be Fired, Knowles Warns

Points Out Statutory Powers in Threat of Pay Dispute Walkout

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles said today that prison guards who failed to report for work in protest over state pay levels being considered for the coming two years can be fired, fired and may lose their opinionated state pension rights.

The penalties are provided in state law, Knowles pointed out. He said that Wilbur Schmidt, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, has decided that such measures will be enforced against guards who failed to report at state correctional institutions.

Employees calling in sick, Schmidt has decided, according to Knowles, will have to supply medical certificates as evidence of illness or they will be penalized under the statutory provisions.

Always Existed

The requirements that doctors' certificates be provided has always existed in departmental rules, according to Schmidt's statement.

Leaders of the guard force at the state prison in Waupun have threatened such an action unless pay demands are met.

Affected by such a work stoppage could be the state prison, the medium security prison at Fox Lake, the Green Bay Reformatory and a pre-release center in Walworth County.

Knowles said that supervisory personnel can operate the institutions for a week if a strike develops.

Sixth in Nation

The State Personnel Board, reporting at a special press conference called by Knowles, termed the offered pay raises as "lush" in comparison to most industrial work of Wisconsin, including the paper industry and "fair and equitable" as compared to pay raises in such heavy industries as steel and auto manufacturing.

The pay plan for guards raises them to sixth in the nation, the board officials told Knowles. The offered pay raises average over 6 per cent a year for almost all state civil service personnel.

The legislative Joint Committee on Finance will take final action on the plan Tuesday. Knowles also defended the application of academic freedom to state university faculty

Rezone Old Airport, City Planners Say

Commission Recommendation Includes Greenspans, Setbacks

Reasoning of an estimated 140 acres of old Outagamie County Airport property in the 18th Ward for heavy industrial use — with provisions for green spots and setbacks — was recommended by the plan commission today.

Ald. William Errington (18th) said he was not against establishing a new industrial park on the county-owned property but objected to the rezoning.

At his request the commission included in its official report to the common council that a 75-foot strip along Ballard Road be planted with greenery. In addition, there would be a 200-foot building setback clause covering Ballard from Pershing Street to Glendale Avenue.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen said the commission's recommendation represented an adequate buffer for the residential area to the west of Ballard Road.

Opposes Setback

Sylvester Esler, Outagamie County Board chairman, favored the 75-foot green strip but opposed the setback, claiming it would prevent the use of valuable industrial property.

Errington conceded at one point he did not know exactly what he wanted in the way of protection for the residential area in his ward, but also said the city was moving too fast with rezoning without studying the full potential of the county-owned land which is located in the city.

Errington said a corner of the old airport should be considered for a possible city-county sports complex.

Changed Mind

The recommendation of the commission would make most of the airport land available for industrial activities. The land is now zoned single family, an automatic zoning category under the law when brought into the city.

members who protest the Vietnam war.

The desire to end the war and "bring the boys home" is a widespread one, he said.

Last week the Board of Regents of State Colleges delayed promotions for two Wisconsin State University-Whitewater faculty members who had urged that Americans refuse to cooperate in the war effort. The promotions were delayed until after state and federal authorities decide whether selective service laws were violated in the student newspaper advertisements.

A few weeks ago the city and county were talking about developing 25 acres of airport property for an industry which wanted to build a new plant there. Since then the industry changed its mind.

The rezoning was backed by the council's commercial and industrial development committee headed by Ald. John MacDonald (7th).

"Don't get me wrong," Errington declared, "Appleton needs to get some new industry in here or the city will be a 'dead duck,' but I think this should be given more study and come out with a planned layout."

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), chairman of the council's street-sanitation committee, and Public Works Director Frank Keuter said the airport utilities were suitable for industry — not a sports complex.

PSC Approves Crossing, Road

A grade crossing and extension of a service road north of W. College Avenue — requested by the Town of Grand Chute — has been authorized by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC).

The Chicago North Western Railway Co., will have to establish the crossing, and the town the road, to accommodate the new K-Mart commercial development along the "strip" in Grand Chute.

K-Mart, a subsidiary of the S.S. Kresge Co., is constructing a new discount center west of the viaduct.

Neenah Couple Injured When Car Hits Tree

OSHKOSH — Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Pausig, 308 E. Forest Ave., Neenah, were hospitalized Sunday evening after the car Pausig drove struck a tree at 1735 S. Commercial St.

Pausig suffered abrasions in his head. Mrs. Pausig complained of back pains and suffered cuts on her hands and feet.

First Jam Hits Bridge On U. S. 41

OSHKOSH — The U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts recorded its first traffic jam of the season Sunday, about a month ahead of its normal schedule.

At 5 p.m. southbound traffic was backed up more than one mile from the bridge entrance as cars funneled down from two traffic lanes to the one lane of the bridge and also tried to accommodate merging vehicles from State 110.

The first "big" push on the bridge will come Memorial Day weekend, the traditional start of the summer vacation season. It is expected that during the peak hours on weekends this summer southbound traffic from U.S. 45 and State 110 will be routed through Oshkosh and then back onto U.S. 41 south of the bridge.

Lake bottom soundings are now being taken in preparation of constructing two additional lanes for the bridge. Work is expected to get underway next month and be completed by the fall of 1968.

One of the three 34,500 volt lines which serve Kimberly also was hit by lightning. As a result there were intermittent power outages in the village from about 11:40 p.m. Sunday until 1:15 a.m. today.

Heavy winds blew a tree across a primary transmission line south of Freedom at 1:15 a.m. Full power wasn't restored in the Freedom area until 5:40 a.m. Lightning damage also caused a 15-minute power outage in the rural areas in the vicinity of Bear Creek, Northport, Royalton and New London.

Lightning which hit transformers in Neenah, Oshkosh, Chilton and Hilbert caused brief electric failures.

Rainfall Heavy

The heavy rainfall in Calumet County caused the Manitowoc and Kilsnake rivers to be higher than they were during the first thaw earlier this spring.

Heavy water was reported on U. S. 151, west of Chilton, and on State 57, north of the city. In

Kimberly Teacher Named Officer In State Society

KIMBERLY — William Brink, social studies teacher at John R. Gerrits Junior High School, was named a vice president of the Wisconsin Council for Social Studies at a meeting Saturday at Madison.

Other officers elected were from Milwaukee and Hartland.

Topic of the spring meeting was "Developing Geographic Concepts in the Wisconsin Schools." Speakers developed the idea of how geographic skills might be best implemented on various levels of instruction.

Emphasized was the idea, geography dealt not only with physical attributes such as climate, soil, drainage and topography, but must also include how man relates to, modifies and uses these elements.

Rescue Squad Aids Asthma Attack Victim

Andrea Cartwright, 16, 1123 N. Richmond St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Larry's Ambulance after suffering an apparent asthma attack about 2:45 a.m. today.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was called to the home and assisted until the girl was taken to the hospital.

Report Car Stolen

Arlo Sievert, 1206 W. Bell Ave., reported to Appleton police Sunday morning that his car was stolen between 9:15 and 10:40 a.m. Sunday. Police said the car is a blue 1961 Chevrolet two-door with white-wall tires. Sievert said the car was not locked but the keys were out of the ignition.

Windows Broken

NEENAH — Vandals broke five basement windows on the east side of Lincoln School on Isabella Street sometime over the weekend, police reported.

addition, Walter Muehl, Chilton public works director, reported sanitary sewers were backing up, causing basement flooding problems on Reed Street. Similar problems were reported in Hilbert.

Rainfall was significantly lighter west and north of Appleton. The measurement was .86 inches in New London and .46 inches in Waupaca. The Wolf River continued to drop in New London and Shiocton despite the rain. The flood control reading in Shiocton was 8.8 feet at 11 a.m., Sunday and 8.5 feet at 7 a.m. today, a drop of 3 inches.

The tornado in south-central Wisconsin hit a dozen farms in Lafayette and Green counties.

Barns, silos, farm animals and at least one house were destroyed by the twister which first touched down south of South Wayne in Lafayette County.

It then skipped across the county line into Green County where it touched down north of Browntown, a community south-east of Monroe.

The twister continued in its northeast path, sidestepping Monroe, before disappearing east of Monticello.

No one was injured by the tornado but a fireman en route to a wrecked farm in Green County suffered bruises in a minor accident.

Tornado Slashes

The farm is owned by Werner Haldiman. "It took everything, everything," said Haldiman. A small tractor house was the only building left standing on his farm.

Other farms were hit less hard.

Residents had ample warning. The U.S. Weather Bureau had issued a tornado watch Sunday morning. The tornado struck shortly after 2 p.m. in the afternoon.

Seven of the damaged farms were in Green County.

On the Clarence Falk farm near Browntown a 100-foot long barn was destroyed and two cement silos were damaged. On another farm, a wagon was hurled 50 feet through the air and smashed against a pine tree.

Civil Defense workers and firemen were called out to clear fallen trees from roadways. Utility company employees were also called out to repair damaged lines.

Little Chute Firemen Extinguish Car Fire

LITTLE CHUTE — Volunteer firemen answered two minor calls Saturday. The first was for a grass fire on Riverside Drive about 3:45 p.m., and the second on the interior of a junked automobile at Van Zealand Garage, 100 W. North St., about 4:45 p.m. It was believed children playing in the area started the fire in the car.

Lightning Hits Wire

NEENAH — Lightning struck an outside wire at the home of Mrs. Lillian Baldauf, 115 W. Forest Ave., about 6:30 p.m. Sunday, and put an electric stove out of service.

Firemen responded to the call but no other damage was reported.

Examine History

The national association, which has only a post office box in New York City as its office, also will go deeply into Church history to determine how mandatory celibacy first came about. The association's members want to find out how public opinion is reacting to the entire issue, and what would be the objections to it among laymen as well as those in the religious life.

"Before optional celibacy could be accepted there must be a complete re-thinking in the present social structure," he conceded.

Although much of the pamphlet mailed to priests by the association and laymen is couched in technical language of theology or dogma, the

Tipsy Wife Runs Down Husband Near Tavern

Rural Oneida Man Said He Had Refused to Take His Wife Home; Both Being Held in Jail

A 39-year-old rural West De Pere woman whom police said struck her husband with his car near an Oneida tavern Sunday afternoon, this morning pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and driving without a license.

The woman's husband pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge arising from the same incident.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller, after accepting the pleas from Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Webster, route 2, West De Pere, parents of 8 children, sent them to jail until this afternoon, saying he wanted to "think about this" some more.

County police were called to Van's Valley Tavern about 1:30 p.m. Sunday on a report that someone had been injured in an accident. Police found Webster, 39, who told them he and his wife, Violet, had been drinking. She wanted to go home, Webster said, and when he refused to take her, she got into the car and started driving away.

Attempt to Stop

Webster reportedly ran in front of the car, waving his arms, in an attempt to stop her. The car struck him, knocking him down in the ditch, police said.

Police learned that Mrs. Webster had started walking home with her three-year-old child. They found her a short way from the tavern.

Webster was taken to a Seymour clinic for treatment of a head cut and a bruised leg. He later was taken to jail where both he and his wife were held overnight. Police said Mrs. Webster attempted to jump from the squad car several times on the way to the sheriff's department.

Webster said in court today

Pay Hike Suggested for Water Department Unit

Factfinder Says 25-Cent Per Hour Increase Would be 'Fair Resolve' to End Deadlock

A Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) factfinder today recommended a 25-cent per hour general wage increase for a work unit in the Appleton Water Department.

Attorney Philip G. Marshall, Milwaukee, assigned to conduct the factfinding after the Water Commission and union reached a stalemate in contract negotiations dating back to October, said the raise should be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1967.

Appleton Municipal Employees Union, Local 73 of the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, petitioned for the factfinding.

Originally, the union submitted a package — wages and fringes — calling for 76.2 cents, according to the commission, which made a counter offer of 8 cents.

But as negotiating continued into 1967, the union narrowed its position down to requesting 25 cents an hour while the commission agreed to 20.

Compared Cities

Once the dispute went to factfinding in February, the union said it would settle for 35 cents an hour.

Both union and commission submitted wage rates of other

Wisconsin communities to support their positions.

Marshall reviewed the overall Appleton Water Commission wage structure, made comparisons with other departments, and concluded the cities of Green Bay, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Neenah and Menasha afforded the best basis of comparison with the local rate for water treatment plant operators.

In his recommendations, Marshall said shift differential and longevity pay should be added to the base rate, while Sunday overtime and holiday allowance increments should not.

Marshall said, all things considered, rates for the five comparable communities exceeded those being paid operators here by 25 cents per hour. He said such an increase, if granted here, would be "a fair resolve of the issue herein presented."

The resulting adjusted base rate for an operator here would be $3.10 per hour.

Cost of the factfinding will be shared by the union and commission.

Make a Framed Box Picture To Hang in Your Bedroom

BY CAPPY DICK

Here's how to make a box picture to hang on the wall of your own room:

Find a cardboard box that has an attractive picture on its cover (Figure 1). A candy box, hosiery box, handkerchief box or stationery box may fill the bill nicely.

Cut a fancy frame for the picture (Figure 2) from a piece of poster board. Color the frame with your paints or crayons. The opening in the frame should be a quarter inch smaller all around than the box lid.

Apply glue to the edges of the lid and set the frame in place.

Easy Fun

Attach a picture hook to the back of the box, using the kind of hook that can be fastened in place with gummed tape. Hang the box on the wall as you would an ordinary picture.

Foxes Have 9 Lettermen

Fox Lutheran's Track Team Faces Hilbert, And Xavier This Week

Buoyed by a nucleus of nine lettermen, Fox Valley Lutheran High School will entertain Hilbert Tuesday and cross-town foe Xavier Friday to kick off its 1967 track campaign.

Willard Lueders has taken over the head coaching position in his first year at FVL, assuming the duties held jointly by Gerhard Kaniess and Dave Umrus for the last several years. Coming from a grade school, Lueders has had no previous prep coaching experience.

The nine letter winners include seniors Gene Schabo, Darwin Tiede, Elwyn Kluess, Jim Witt and Gary Kaphingst while Brad Plamann and Gary Bonnin are junior lettermen and Brock Woods and John Hanne-mann, sophomore monogram winners.

Fox Valley lost four lettermen through graduation and two — Dave Tiedt and Dennis Vorpahl — have failed to come out this spring.

The 35-man varsity squad includes 13 each from the senior and sophomore classes and nine juniors. Over 40 have turned over for freshmen track with Kaniess taking over the coaching chores.

The varsity is captained by Schabo, who holds the FVL standard in the mile with a clocking of 4:52.8. Schabo was second in scoring last season, when the Foxes compiled a 4-2 record.

The team met and competed for the first time in the Midwest Prep Conference, with 48 points. Tiede is a long jump standout and was third in scoring last

Clay's Bid for Injunction of Draft Blocked

Supreme Court Says No to Request By Cassius' Lawyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today turned back an effort by heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay to stay out of the Army.

Clay's request for an injunction to block his scheduled April 28 induction in the Army was flatly denied without comment. The boxing champion had filed various motions with the court in an effort to freeze his draft situation until the court could act on several constitutional arguments raised by him in lower courts.

He still may be able to bring these questions before the high court but it is unlikely he could get action before his scheduled induction date.

Irreparable Loss

Clay filed his papers under his Black Muslim name Muhammad Ali. His lawyers had told the court that if the induction was not delayed Clay stood to suffer irreparable loss of about $460,000 guaranteed in contracts for three fights.

Attorneys for the champion claim the Selective Service Act gives the president and governors unconstitutional unlimited discretion "to make appointments of members of draft boards throughout the country in a manner that discriminates against Negroes contrary to the 5th amendment to the United States constitution."

Mikita Hurt, May Miss Sixth Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Center Stan Mikita of the Chicago Black Hawks went on the doubtful list Sunday because of a leg injury and might not see action against Toronto in the sixth game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup semifinal series.

Mikita injured his right leg when he pulled a muscle in Thursday's game and apparently aggravated the condition Saturday.

Rocket, Terror Trackmen Will Clash Tuesday

Teams to Make Their Outdoor Debuts at Neenah

Appleton High School's track team invades Neenah at 4 p.m. Tuesday for the outdoor dual-meet debut for both teams.

During indoor competition, the Rockets lost a dual test to powerful Manitowoc, placed second in the Manitowoc invitational meet and accounted for five first places in the United States Track and Field Federation meet in Madison.

AHS finished behind Manti and Whitefish Bay in a triangular meet and placed fifth in the Fox River Valley Conference indoor meet.

Last year, Neenah and AHS hooked up with Green Bay East in a triangular. The Rockets outscored the Terrers, 59 to 51, while GBE placed third.

Scores 13 Points

Neenah's Chuck Wismer, again one of Neenah's standouts, scored 13 points in the '66 meet. He took firsts in the 100-yard dash and the long jump and was second in the 220-yard dash.

Wisner won long jump honors in the recent Madison meet. Bob Pierce and Terry Olson took the shot put and mile titles, respectively, at Madison. Two Rocket relay teams also placed first.

Olson's duel with AHS' Scott Schultz in the mile is expected to be one of Tuesday's highlights.

Among other leading Terror point hopes are pole vaulters Cliff Tierney and Bob Manwell, quarter miler Gerard Hendriks, half-miler Randy Thomas, weightman Dave Romanesko, sprinter Steve Kagen, long jumper Bob Simon and hurdlers John Vogt and Bill King.

Phil Niekro Saves Atlanta's 4-1 Win Over Los Angeles

Pirates Score Four in Ninth To Beat Cubs; Reds Take Pair

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Phil and Joe Niekro, of the Lansing, Ohio, Niekros, have struck their first blow for brotherhood. It's likely that Atlanta Manager Billy Hitchcock was far more satisfied with the results than Leo Durocher, the Cubs' skipper.

Phil, an eight-year baseball veteran, acquitted himself admirably Sunday when flung into a difficult late-inning situation, saving a 4-1 victory for Atlanta over Los Angeles.

But young brother Joe, facing similar problems in his first major league appearance, didn't fare as well.

The Cubs were rolling along with a 5-2 lead over Pittsburgh in the ninth inning, courtesy of a sterling pitching job by Ferguson Jenkins, who had to leave the game in the seventh inning with an ankle injury.

Went to Bullpen

Cal Koonce had done nicely in getting the Pirates out in part of the seventh and all of the eighth inning, but when Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski singled and Gene Alley walked Durocher went to the bullpen.

First he tried John Upham, but a single by Manny Mota, driving in a run and leaving the bases loaded, soured Durocher on him and then it was Niekro's turn.

The 22-year-old right-hander, with only one year of minor league experience, allowed a sacrifice fly by Jim Paganioni and a triple by Matty Alou that won for the Pirates 6-5.

Meanwhile in Atlanta, brother Phil protected the Braves' lead in the eighth inning by getting Lou Johnson to hit into a double play and then retired the Dodgers in the ninth.

In other National League games, St. Louis outslugged Houston 11-8, Philadelphia shut out New York 2-0, and Cincinnati took a pair from San Francisco 4-1 and 6-0.

Lou Brock continued his great hitting for the Cardinals, lashing two home runs and a pair of singles. He also had two homers Saturday and drove in eight runs with seven straight hits for the two games. Orlando Cepeda broke a 7-7 tie in the sixth inning for the unbeaten Cards.

Larry Jackson won his 16th straight game over the Mets and Rich Allen hit a two-run homer. Jackson only gave up five hits and didn't allow a single New York runner past second base.

Steve Hurls 3-0 Victory In First Start

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Barber started off making a pitch for job security and wound up making a grab for immortality.

The injury-plagued left-hander, whose arm troubles almost cost him a spot on the Baltimore varsity this spring, missed a no-hitter by a whisker Sunday in pitching the Orioles to a 3-0 victory over California.

Jim Fregosi, whose 10th-inning RBI single had given the Angels a 5-4 nod in the double-header opener, ruined Barber's bid with a one-out double in the ninth.

Barber finished with a one-hitter, facing 31 batters, and left little doubt he's ready to reclaim his spot in the Orioles' pitching rotation.

It was the first American League appearance for Barber since last Sept. 23, when he was lifted by Manager Hank Bauer after holding the Angels hitless for five innings.

Out of Action

Tendonitis in his left elbow kept the 28-year-old veteran out of action for most of the second half of the 1966 season and sidelined him during the Orioles' four-game World Series sweep over Los Angeles. He took a 10-3 record into the All-Star break but didn't win another game.

"I'm not upset," Barber said after Fregosi exploded the no-hit bid in the ninth. "It would have been nice to pitch one. But it's awfully good to win one."

"The thing I was concerned about before the game was being able to go nine innings."

New York and Boston had more difficulty going the second nine in an 18-inning marathon which the Yankees finally won 7-6 on Joe Pepitone's run-scoring single.

The Chicago White Sox trimmed Washington 7-3, then labored 16 innings for a 4-3 victory that completed the double-header sweep. Detroit split a doubleheader with Kansas City, winning 6-3 before bowing 11-7, and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 4-3 in a single game.

Barber, who walked three Angels and struck out three, went to a 3-0 count on Fregosi in the

Ellis Ends Eventful Coaching Career

BY RON WITT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CLINTONVILLE — "I did what I wanted to do."

That was the observation of Clintonville High School football coach T. D. (Tony) Ellis Saturday as he reflected upon a coaching career that spanned 35 years — a career that ended last week after his 25th year at Clintonville.

The end of the Ellis era of coaching at the Mid-Eastern Conference school came at a school board meeting, when official acceptance of a letter of resignation was made. Ellis is to continue in a teaching capacity at Clintonville High.

The 61-year old Ellis decided to call it quits after dedicating a quarter-century of service to Clintonville football fortunes. Finishing up with a 3-4 record in M-E play in 1966, Ellis' teams wound up with a 73-73 conference record for his term as head mentor.

Clintonville's record against non-conference teams bordered on the spectacular, as Ellis-coached teams compiled a 27-4-3 mark during his tenure. The performance brings Ellis' overall record to an even 100 wins, 77 losses, and 12 ties.

Have Advantage

Has high school football changed much over the years? Ellis doesn't think so, but admits that the youngsters of today probably have an advantage over those of 15 or 20 years ago.

"The kids get to see a lot more football today," in reference to the blossoming of collegiate and professional football on TV.

"Nevertheless," he says, "there were boys in those early years who could play on any high school team today. The boys don't change very much, only the coaches change."

Had he changed very much as a coach? He thought perhaps he might have grown more conservative over the years, but added: "You just have to change your style of football to suit the material."

Enters College

The football bug bit Ellis as a youngster in high school and hasn't let go since. He spent his early years on a farm in Grant County, but his parents moved to Lancaster when he reached eighth grade. He went on to play two years as an end, and finished his high school days as captain and quarterback of his team in 1923.

At first undecided upon a career, Ellis stayed home and worked for over a year. Then, in the fall of 1925, he entered Plattville Teachers College.

Later, he graduated with a Bachelor of Education degree in a 3-year course of science and math.

The Plattville coaching staff groomed him at fullback instead of quarterback, but he wasn't bitter. "The boys thought I was all right," he recalls. "I could block and tackle. They also used me as linebacker." He was selected captain in his final year, 1927.

Ellis took his first coaching job at Spring Green in 1928 and was to remain there for nine seasons. During that stretch, his football teams stormed to seven Tri-County League championships in compiling a shiny 50-19-

1 record. In 1936, Ellis guided the school to conference championships in football, basketball, and baseball. The basketball team went to the state tournament.

Already a veteran coach and just 31-years old, Ellis became disenchanted with his teaching career in 1937. "I gave it up," he says, "there just wasn't any money in it." His boyhood memories of farm life had lingered with him, and he

Wilt, 76ers Blast Warriors, 126-95; Take 2 to 0 Lead

Chamberlain Grabs 38 Rebounds; Cold S.F. Shoots 29.5 Per Cent

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Bill Sharman hasn't given up on his San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association playoffs, but he looks something less than a picture of confidence after falling behind 2-0 in the best-of-7 championship series.

The Warriors virtually were blown off the court Sunday as they lost 126-95 to the Eastern champion Philadelphia 76ers. It wouldn't be an exaggeration to say it was no contest.

The Western champions were held under 100 points for only the second time this season as they shot only 29.5 per cent

Lost to Lakers

The only other time the Warriors, who average 122.4 per game, were under 100 was last Feb. 3 when they lost 120-80 to Los Angeles.

As Sharman put it: "We couldn't put the ball in the hoop and you can't give that team 18 more rebounds and hope to win."

The San Francisco coach said his boys were "too anxious after we got behind and had to play catch-up. And the 76ers were running and hitting their shots. They played aggressive defense and even picked up everything that was loose on the floor," Sharman said.

The 76ers never trailed as they led 26-17 after the first period, 57-46 at halftime and 85-69 heading into the final quarter.

Coach Alex Hannum of Philadelphia refused to predict a four-game sweep as the teams headed for San Francisco and the third and fourth games Tuesday and Thursday.

Comeback Chances

Chamberlain scored only 10 points but he grabbed 38 rebounds and blocked 10 shots. Hal Greer scored 30 and Billy Cunningham tallied 28 to lead the winners.

Sharman said he would like to get in one good practice session, but he wasn't very hopeful. He has too many crimples.

Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, who led the Warriors with 30 points Sunday, is hobbled by a twisted ankle and Fred Hetzel had to sit out the second half suffering from shin splints.

Ellis Concludes Eventful Career

decided to go back to work on a relative's farm.

After 2½ years of toil there, he became restless again and tried his hand in the life insurance business. He liked it and proved to be an outstanding salesman, but by 1941 the lure of coaching and teaching had returned stronger than before.

He dove back headlong into the coaching ranks that autumn when he took a post at Oregon High School, a school without football. "They hadn't had it before, and I bought the equipment after school started," he remembers. Besides starting a football program, Ellis also coached basketball, baseball, and boxing in his 1-year stint at Oregon.

"A coach always likes to move up," Tony says, and in 1942 he got that chance and moved to Clintonville. A job at Kimberly High School was also offered to him at the time, but Tony chose Clintonville because, "I had everything to gain and nothing to lose." The reference was to the relative position of the two schools in athletics. While Clintonville had been taking its lumps, Kimberly (under Ray Hamman) had had a more successful program.

Rough Years

The first three years were rough, and Ellis began to wonder again whether he was really in the right profession. His Trucons managed to win two of eight games in the initial season, but could only beat Marion in seven tilts in 1943. The '44 season was almost as bad, as Clintonville won one game in six starts.

Finally, in 1945, his team went over the .500 mark for the first time at 4-2. "We got the spirit. We just had to have the winning tradition," says Ellis. The winning tradition established, Clintonville went on to four consecutive winning seasons, including an M-E championship in 1947.

Ellis cherishes most the memories of Clintonville battle with Kaukauna and Neenah in the mid-40's. The Ghosts gave Ellis and the Trucons fits during Clintonville's best years. The Trucons racked up a 5-2 mark in 1946, 6-0-1 in 1947, and 6-1 in 1948 and '49. In each of those years, Kaukauna inflicted a loss with the exception of '47 when the two teams tied at 6-6.

But just as Kaukauna seemed to hold a hex over Ellis, so he held the same sort of jinx against Neenah. The Trucons whipped the Rockets six years in a row from '45 through '50.

Who were his greatest players? Ellis hesitated, and then during Clintonville's best years, explained: "It's very difficult to pick out your best after 25 years, because the minute you name somebody, you forget 10 others you know you should never forget."

Recalls Players

But in the same vein of thought, he couldn't help recalling the exploits of "Booby" Bohen and Jack Zoellmer of the '47 club; or Don Jirschele and Jack Kasson of the 1950 team who went on to play collegiate football at Kentucky; or Bill Meizer, who is currently in line for the top quarterback job at Northwestern. Meizer led Clintonville to second place finishes in the M-E in 1944 and '45.

Ellis, like any coach who has been in the game for such a length of time, is reluctant to leave, but admits "It's time. It'll be real hard, real hard," he says, looking ahead to his status as an arm-chair coach. "But it's time."

Ellis lives with his wife Catherine in their Clintonville home. The couple has two children — a son, Jerry, who played for his father in the mid-30's and who is now a dentist, and daughter Joan, who is married and living in Bethesda, Md.

Randy Glover Captures First Major Title

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Randy Glover is over the hump — he has his first major PGA golf tournament victory and will use his $5,000 first-place check to pay for the new car he bought a week ago.

The sturdy 25-year-old Florence, S.C., professional showed Sunday why he is co-holder of the PGA record of 19 putts in a round as he rallied from a shaky start to outlast Joe Campbell in a two-hole sudden-death playoff in the $35,000 Azalea Open.

Glover played 20 holes Sunday and made only two birdies. But one came on the second extra hole from 10 feet and opened the doors to the lucrative extras of touring golf life that are available only to tournament winners.

Randy was tabbed as a top prospect a couple of years ago when he won over $40,000 on the tour. But until he won in overtime over the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course he had never been higher than third in a major tour event.

Rocky Thompson closed with 68 for a 279 total and third place to win $2,500.

The other two schools in the tournament, West Allis Hale and Monona Grove, each had 1-5 records.

Coach Dave Hash's Kaukauna team opened the first round volleyball team lost to Antigo with 15-10 and 15-12 victories over West Allis while Antigo downed Monona Grove by scores of 15-10 and 15-2.

In the second round Kaukauna topped Monona Grove by scores of 15-5 and 15-9 and Antigo topped Hale by 15-9 and 15-11. The third round saw Antigo post a 15-8 win over Kaukauna in the first round and then the Ghosts came back to take the second match, 15-7, to force the playoff.

Kaukauna finished the season with a 30-35 record.

Palmer Second Despite 'Twin-Eagle' Round

Beard Wins Tourney Crown

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Beard faced this decision after one of Arnold Palmer's spectacular rallies of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions: Should he try for a birdie-4 on the final hole Sunday and break a tie with Palmer or should he play it safe for a par and gamble for a playoff with Arnie and his Nevada army?

Beard agreed today he made the correct decision as he and his brother golf pros headed for the Dallas Open this week.

Beard got the birdie, the $20,000 winner's purse and marred the amazing comeback round by Palmer, who shattered the Stardust Golf Club's par, 36-35-71, with a round of 29-35-64. The 29 and the 64 established a course record.

A quick rundown of results: Beard, 71 for 278, six under par; Palmer, 64-279; George Archer, 68-282; Jack Nicklaus, 73, Doug Sanders, 71 and Bobby Nichols, 70, each 284.

Shoots Eagle

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper's 73 gave him 292, and Masters champion Gay Brewer had 75 for 288.

Palmer, playing well ahead of Beard, a personable pro from Louisville, Ky., shot an eagle-3 on the first hole and added five birdies before he finished the front nine for his 29.

"I don't think I ever shot a 29 before on a par-36 nine," said Palmer.

Palmer's second nine was something else. He four-putted the 14th for a double-bogey-5, but on the very next hole he had an eagle-3.

On the last three holes he was bogey-par-birdie.

Beard lost a stroke to par on the first hole, parred the next 10 and eventually came to the 18th in a deadlock with Palmer.

It is a par-5, 540-yard hole and some 13,000 or more paced around the green.

"A lot of things were going through my mind," said Beard later. Included was the thought of an 18-hole playoff with Arnie, and Frank indicated he didn't think much of this idea.

So he said he told his caddy, "We might as well win it." He selected his driver instead of the 2-iron he had been using on this hole.

"I just knocked the hell out of it," said the happy Frank.

Two strokes later, he faced the vital putt. How long was it? "Fifty feet," said Frank-deadpan.

It was about seven feet.

"Sure, I was nervous, but not too much. I knew I still had another putt to tie and there was the playoff to remember."

Beard didn't linger over the ball. He putted quickly. The ball hit the right corner of the cup, and fell in.

Chisox Display Power, Pitching in Double-Bill Victory Over Senators

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox parlayed home run power and a little bit of luck into a double-bill victory over the Washington Senators Sunday.

Three-run homers by Tommie Agee and Pete Ward helped Joe Horlen score a 7-3 victory in the opener. Then it took the Sox 16 innings to down the Senators 4-3 in the nightcap.

Hank Allen's pinch homer lifted Washington into a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning in the ninth and the two teams battled scorelessly until the 16th, when Ken Berry led off for the Sox with a single.

Pitcher Darold Knowles caught Berry striding too far off first and fired the ball on a pickoff play. First baseman Ken Harrelson, however, was not expecting the throw and the ball went by him while Berry scampered to third. Tom McCraw bounced out. Agee and Ward were walked intentionally to fill the bases. Jerry Adair then drew a walk to force in the winning run.

The Chicago Cubs suffered a tough loss when they blew a three-run lead in the ninth inning and dropped a 6-5 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the second loss of the season for the Cubs, and both resulted from a lack of relief pitching. Ferguson Jenkins was when he tripped while backing up a play and had to leave the game with a twisted ankle.

Cal Koonce pitched the seventh and held the Pirates scoreless in the eighth, but Koonce ran into trouble in the ninth and John Upham and Joe Niekro couldn't hold the lead as the Pirates scored four runs, the last two on a two-out, two-run triple by Matty Alou.

Paul Popovich, Billy Williams and Randy Hundt had two hits each for the Cubs.

The Cubs will be at Philadelphia tonight with Ken Holtzman facing former Cub Dick Ellisworth in a battle of lefthanders.

Wilt, 76ers Blast Warriors, 126-95; Take 2 to 0 Lead

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Bill Sharman hasn't given up on his San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association playoffs, but he looks something less than a picture of confidence after falling behind 2-0 in the best-of-7 championship series.

The Warriors virtually were blown off the court Sunday as they lost 126-95 to the Eastern champion Philadelphia 76ers. It wouldn't be an exaggeration to say it was no contest.

The Western champions were held under 100 points for only the second time this season as they shot only 29.5 per cent from the field and were out-rebounded by Wilt Chamberlain and company, 101-43.

Lost to Lakers

The only other time the Warriors, who average 123.4 per game, were under 100 was last Feb. 3 when they lost 129-80 to Los Angeles.

As Sharman put it: "We couldn't put the ball in the hoop and you can't give that team 100 more rebounds and hope to win."

The San Francisco coach said his boys were "too anxious after we got behind and had to play catch-up. And the 76ers were running and hitting their shots. They played aggressive defense and even picked up everything that was loose on the floor," Sharman said.

The 76ers never trailed as they led 26-17 after the first period, 57-46 at halftime and 85-69 heading into the final quarter.

Coach Alex Hannum of Philadelphia refused to predict a four-game sweep as the teams headed for San Francisco and the third and fourth games Tuesday and Thursday.

Comeback Chances

"They've got some problems," Hannum said, "but a day's rest, their own floor and their home fans should make them tough."

Chamberlain scored only 10 points but he grabbed 38 rebounds, handed out 10 assists and blocked 10 shots. Hal Greer scored 30 and Billy Cunningham tallied 28 to lead the winners.

Sharman said he would like to get in one good practice session, but he wasn't very hopeful. He has too many crimples.

Rick Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, who led the Warriors with 30 points Sunday, is hobbled by a twisted ankle and Fred Hetzel had to sit out the second half suffering from shin splints.

Ellis Concludes Eventful Career

decided to go back to work on a relative's farm.

After 2 1/2 years of toll there, he became restless again and tried his hand in the life insurance business. He liked it and proved to be an outstanding salesman, but by 1941 the lure of coaching and teaching had returned stronger than before.

He dove back headlong into the coaching ranks that autumn when he took a post at Oregon High School, a school without football. "They hadn't had it before, and I bought the equipment after school started," he remembers. Besides starting a football program, Ellis also coached basketball, baseball and boxing in his 1-year stint at Oregon.

"A coach always likes to move up," Tony says, and in 1942 he got that chance and moved to Clintonville. A job at Kimberly High School was also offered to him at the time, but Tony chose Clintonville because, "I had everything to gain and nothing to lose." The reference was to the relative position of the two schools in athletics. While Clintonville had been taking its lumps, Kimberly (under Ray Hamman) had had a more successful program.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Randy Glover is over the hump — he has his first major PGA golf tournament victory and will use his $5,000 first-place check to pay for the new car he bought a week ago.

The sturdy 25-year-old Florence, S.C., professional showed Sunday why he is co-holder of the PGA record of 19 putts in a round as he rallied from a shaky start to outlast Joe Campbell in a two-hole sudden-death playoff in the $35,000 Azalea Open.

Glover played 20 holes Sunday and made only two birdies. But one came on the second extra hole from 10 feet and opened the doors to the lucrative extras of touring golf life that are available only to tournament winners.

Randy was tabbed as a top prospect a couple of years ago when he won over $40,000 on the tour. But until he won in overtime over the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course he had never been higher than third in a major tour event.

Rocky Thompson closed with 68 for a 279 total and third place to win $2,500.

Randy Glover Captures First Major Title

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Randy Glover is over the hump — he has his first major PGA golf tournament victory and will use his $5,000 first-place check to pay for the new car he bought a week ago.

The first three years were rough, and Ellis began to wonder again whether he was really in the right profession. His Trunkers managed to win two of eight games in the initial season, but could only beat Marion in seven tilts in 1943. The '44 season was almost as bad, as Clintonville won one game in six starts.

Finally, in 1945, his team went over the .500 mark for the first time at 4-2. "We got the spirit. We just had to have the winning tradition," says Ellis. The winning tradition established, Clintonville went on to four consecutive winning seasons, including an M-E championship in 1947.

Ellis cherishes most the memories of Clintonville battle with Kaukauna and Neenah in the mid-40's. The Ghosts gave Ellis and the Trunkers fits during Clintonville's best years. The Trunkers racked up a 5-2 mark in 1946, 6-0-1 in 1947, and 6-1 in 1948 and '49. In each of those years, Kaukauna inflicted a loss with the exception of '47 when the two teams tied at 6-6.

But just as Kaukauna seemed to hold a hex over Ellis, so he held the same sort of jinx against Neenah. The Trunkers whipped the Rockets six years in a row from '45 through '50.

Who were his greatest players? Ellis hesitated, and then during Clintonville's best years, explained: "It's very difficult to pick out your best after 25 years, because the minute you name somebody, you forget 10 others you know you should never forget."

Recalls Players

But in the same vein of thought, he couldn't help recalling the exploits of "Booby" Bohlen and Jack Zoellmer of the '47 club; or Don Jirschele and Jack Kasson of the 1950 team who went on to play collegiate football at Kentucky; or Bill Meizer, who is currently in line for the top quarterback job at Northwestern. Meizer led Clintonville to second place finishes in the M-E in 1944 and '65.

Ellis, like any coach who has been in the game for such a length of time, is reluctant to leave, but admits "It's time. It'll be real hard, real hard," he says, looking ahead to his status as an arm-chair coach. "But it's time."

Ellis lives with his wife Catherine in their Clintonville home. The couple has two children — a son, Jerry, who played for his father in the mid-40's and who is now a dentist, and daughter Joan, who is married and living in Bethesda, Md.

Palmer Second Despite 'Twin-Eagle' Round

By BOB MYERS
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Beard faced this decision after one of Arnold Palmer's spectacular rallies of the $100,000 Tournament of Champions: Should he try for a birdie-4 on the final hole Sunday and break a tie with Palmer or should he play it safe for a par and gamble for a playoff with Arnie and his Nevada army?

Beard agreed today he made the correct decision as he and his brother golf pros headed for the Dallas Open this week.

Beard got the birdie, the $20,000 winner's purse and marred the amazing comeback round by Palmer, who shattered the Stardust Golf Club's par, 36-35-71, with a round of 29-35-64. The 29 and the 64 established a course record.

Shoots Eagle

U.S. Open champion Billy Casper's 73 gave him 292, and Masters champion Gay Brewer had 75 for 288.

Palmer, playing well ahead of later. Included was the thought of an 18-hole playoff with Arnie, and Frank indicated he didn't think much of this idea.

So he said he told his caddie, "We might as well win it." He selected his driver instead of the 2-iron he had been using on this hole.

"I just knocked the hell out of it," said the happy Frank.

Two strokes later, he faced the vital putt. How long was it? "Fifty feet," said Frank-deadpan.

It was about seven feet.

"Sure, I was nervous, but not too much. I knew I still had another putt to tie and there was the playoff to remember."

Favor Griffith Over Benvenuti In Title Bout

Challenger Posts 71-1 Mark; Expect Crowd of 15,000

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven Italian-Americans have won the middleweight championship but no Italian citizen ever has captured the valuable boxing title. Nino Benvenuti hopes to become the first tonight when he faces defender Emile Griffith at Madison Square Garden.

The betting odd, however, favor the 29-year-old champion from New York at 13-5 over the handsome, 28-year-old challenger from Trieste for the television 15-rounder.

Several hundred Italians, including Benvenuti's wife, father and brother, have flown here to root for the European champion. There will be thousands of other supporters for the Italian in a crowd of about 15,000 which will pay $125,000 or more.

Johnny Wilson, Vince Dundee, Fred Apostoli, Rocky Graziano, Jake LaMotta, Carmen Basilio and Joey Giardello were the Americans of Italian descent to win the 160-pound division crown.

Mitri Loses
Tiberio Mitri, the last Italian citizen to get a shot at the title, was given a 15-round beating by LaMotta at the Garden on July 12, 1950.

Griffith's only knockout loss was inflicted on him by Robin (Hurricane) Carter, a left-hooking specialist, in the first round at Pittsburgh, Dec. 20, 1963.

Benvenuti has fought out of Italy only twice in compiling a 71-1 won-lost record, including 30 knockouts. He lost his second middleweight crown on a disputed decision to South Korea's Ki Kim-Soo in Seoul last June. He stopped Germany's Jupp Elze in the 14th round the month before in Berlin.

Griffith's record is 52-7, including 18 knockouts.

Ships Set 2 Records

Class A Relays Title Won by Manitowoc

MADISON (AP) — The Ships of Manitowoc sailed to records in the half mile and mile relays to edge Beloit 25 1/4 to 22 for the Class A title in the 30th annual Madison West indoor track relays during the weekend.

Monona Grove tied defending champion Oak Creek for the Class B crown.

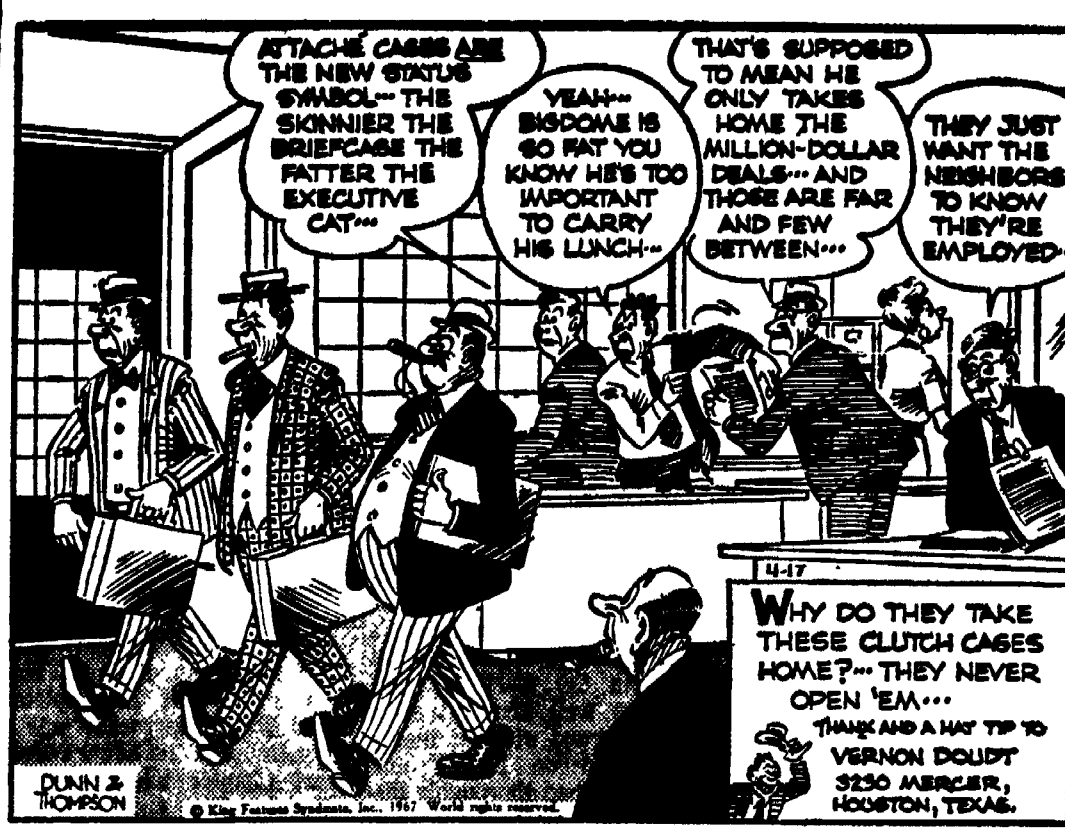

Defending Class A champion Freeport, Ill., could do no better than sixth place, edging Rockford, Ill., East by only a fraction of a point.

Manitowoc broke the half-mile relay record by more than a second and then lowered the mile mark by two seconds to post a come-from-behind victory in the final event.

Madison Ties Mark
In addition to the Ships' records, Beloit's Joe Poston won the 70-yard low hurdles in a record 17 seconds flat, and Pat Patterson of Shelbyville North set a 60-second mark in the 60-yard dash.

Latin American Social Reform Issues Clouded

WSU-O Panelist Says Revolution 'Inextricably Linked'

OSHKOSH — Even the experts weren't eager to predict the means by which Latin America will gain social reform when they met in panel discussion here Saturday to conclude a two-day seminar on "Latin America: Revolution or Reform?" at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

In the two days of discussion, however, they had presented facts and views on which participants could base their own predictions. In the process, they contributed to a wider understanding of a complicated situation.

Reform and revolution go together, each is necessary for the other, Dr. Kenneth Griebel, WSU-O seminar chairman, concluded. They are inextricably linked.

Dr. David Chang, chairman, WSU-O political science department, asked the last seminar question. He said he had been told of Latin American social revolution, of rising expectations, and of the military serving as a stabilizing force against left-wing takeover, although the left-wing intellectuals offer the best chance for leadership. "What is the nature of the rising expectation in relation to social change in Latin America?" he wanted to know.

His question proved to be a seminar stopper. Dr. George Conner, moderator, advised participants to ponder the question.

Neither reform or revolution

Why Can't You Remember

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 472-014, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Carroll College Picks Minister To Presidency

WAUKESHA (AP)—Dr. John T. Middaugh, minister of Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md., was named eleventh president of Carroll College Saturday.

The Carroll board of trustees chose him to succeed Dr. Robert T. Steele who is retiring July 31 after heading Wisconsin's oldest college since 1952.

Dr. Middaugh, 53, a native of London, Ontario, Canada, attended the University of Western Ontario, and the Graduate School of Theology at Oberlin, Ohio, and earned his master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. He taught at Huntington, Ind., College and the Case Institute of Technology at Cleveland.

is likely in the immediate future, as Dr. Edwin Lieuwen sees it. As chairman of the department of history, University of New Mexico, Dr. Lieuwen had earlier presented the role of the military in Latin American politics.

Dr. Ben S. Stephansky, State Department expert on Latin American affairs, suggested a further investigation into the elements of change likely to effect social reform in Latin America.

He maintained that the policy of the U.S. State Department in Latin America manages to find ways of co-existence when the "angels of change present themselves."

What's going to be decisive in any change, Stephansky declared, is the capability of the area for change. "When it does change, I think you'll find the State Department on the side for change," he reiterated.

Basis for Reform
It was Dr. Oscar Lewis, department of anthropology, University of Illinois, who suggested Latin America's leaders for change are likely to come from the left-wing intellectuals of the middle class. There is nothing in the condition of poverty to indicate that is a basis for social reform, he advised.

Dr. Lewis said he thought violent revolution is likely to precede social reform in Latin America.

Everything is possible in Latin America, Ruben DeHoyos of the WSU-O political science department said. He indicated social change might come by evolution, social or violent revolution. "I am not a prophet," he declared.

The seminar began at WSU-O Friday and included talks by the panelists and by Dr. Lester Beberfall in the WSU-O department of languages.

Sponsors were the WSU-O history department and the division of extended services. About 75 students, faculty, and others attended the closing session.

Representative of French Embassy to Talk on Theater

"Modern Trends in French Theatre" will be discussed by a French Embassy representative in a public lecture set for 8 p.m., April 25, at Lawrence University Memorial Union.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By LIGHTY

"Is heartening to see so many citizens interested in demonstration for world peace, comrade!"

Flutist Kristin Webb Plans Recital at Lawrence Hall

Flutist Kristin Webb, faculty member at the Conservatory of Music, Lawrence University, will present a public recital at 4 p.m. April 23, in Harper Hall at the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

Miss Webb, an instructor in music, has programmed Dance of the Blessed Spirits (Orpheus) by Gluck; Sonatine, by H. Dutilleux; Syrinx, pour flute seule, by Debussy, and Sonata in D Major, Op. 94, by Prokofiev.

She will be assisted by pianist Patricia Sayre, a teaching specialist in music.

Current Chairman
A faculty member since 1963, Miss Webb is currently chairman of Lawrence's department of special music instruction.

She received bachelor's and master's degrees in music from North Texas State University, and formerly taught flute and music education at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Her teachers have included Doriot A. Dwyer, a Boston Symphony Orchestra member with whom she studied last summer, and George E. Morey.

Former Member
Miss Webb is a former member of the Fort Worth, San Angelo and Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestras. In this area she has appeared with the recently organized Fox Valley Symphony Orchestra, and as a member of the instrumental ensemble for a Lawrence Choral Society presentation of Handel's Messiah.

Sunday's program will be the sixth in which she has participated here. In addition to solo appearances, she has been heard on Lawrence faculty chamber music recitals.

Her program will feature the Prokofiev sonata, composed in 1943. First performed in Moscow, the work was later transcribed by the composer and published as the Sonata No. 2 for Violin and Piano, Op. 94 bis. The violin version has since become even better known and more often heard than the original flute setting.

Sorensen Sees RFK Among World Leaders

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Former presidential aide Theodore C. Sorensen predicts a place "among world leaders" for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sorensen says the New York Democrat "has the quality that all the Kennedys have — the quality of continuing growth."

"He is a much more thoughtful and broader-gauged man this year than he was the year before."

6 Southern States Must Act by Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to interfere with the ordered integration of all public schools in six southern states by next fall.

The court made no comment as it announced rejection of a request by six Louisiana school boards that implementation of the March 29 ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans be delayed until an appeal is made to the high court.

The Justice Department had opposed the request for delay. It characterized the move as an effort to put off "realization of a constitutional right announced 13 years ago." This referred to the historic May 1954 Supreme Court ruling that separate educational facilities are "inherently unequal."

Feared 'Chaos'
The request was filed at the high court last Wednesday by the school boards of Caddo, Bossier, Jackson, Cliborne and East Baton Rouge parishes (counties) and the city of Monroe. They claimed immediate enforcement of the circuit court ruling would "create great chaos."

The boards said schools might have to be relocated and contracts for teachers voided. The department said the boards had failed to show they would suffer "irreparable harm." If the circuit court ruling were held up, the department said, "significant progress in public school desegregation" in Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas could be postponed a year.

The 8-4 circuit court decision called for integration of public schools in the six states from kindergarten up at the start of the fall term. The ruling applies to students, teachers, school transportation and school-related activities. The circuit court also adopted guidelines set by the department of health, education and welfare for school systems that accept federal funds.

Flee Prison to See Governor

Convicts Get Audience With Maddox

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Among the throngs of well-dressed Georgians at Gov. Lester Maddox's first open house Sunday were four shabbily dressed Negroes — escaped prisoners with a story to tell the governor.

The four said they sawed through bars at a Wilkinson County public works camp at midnight Saturday and walked all night to complain personally to the governor about prison treatment.

Waited in Line
They told Maddox of threats on their lives, of being put in solitary confinement for complaining, and of going six to eight days with only one meal.

Clad in faded sports shirts and ill-fitting overalls, with prison garb underneath, the Negroes waited in a line of more than 4,000 Georgians gathered to greet the governor at the mansion.

The prisoners' first pleas were unheeded. Maddox, busily shaking hands and chatting with visitors, missed the rapidly mumbled plea of Mrs. Albert Hill, mother of one of the prisoners.

"They're prisoners, they walked all night," Mrs. Hill said. But the governor already had turned to greet other guests.

Mrs. Maddox, however, thought she had heard the word "prisoner" and asked a nearby state patrolman to check. He did and called the governor.

After talking about 20 minutes

with the men, Maddox said he was ordering the "most thorough investigation ever conducted by the Department of Corrections."

"These men told me they had planned to escape because of cruel treatment, of going six to eight days with only one meal," the governor said at a news conference.

"They had planned two weeks ago to escape. They wanted to surrender to me. They sawed through bars and walked away."

"I'm convinced there's considerable truth to this."

'Tried Everything'
"These men said they had tried everything else. They had even been put in a hole for complaining. I'm glad they did come," Maddox said.

Although the governor said the men walked from the prison camp at Irwinton to Jackson, the distance is about 70 miles. Another source said the men walked and hitchhiked.

Robert Carter, associate director of the Department of Corrections, said the men are being held in an Atlanta jail and have not yet been questioned. He said an investigation would be made, but it would take several days.

"I talked with the warden at the prison camp briefly," he said. "But I did not ask him about the charges of cruel treatment. We expect to question him thoroughly later."

The warden, R. T. Bridges, could not be reached by newsmen.

"We wanted to get better conditions," said Booker T. Gary, 20, of Macon, serving a six-year sentence for robbery. He said his life had been threatened by guards at the work camp.

"If you don't work as good as they think you should, well, they do it," he said of the threats.

The other three prisoners are MacArthur Davis, 26, of Macon, serving a sentence for armed robbery; Douglas May, 24, of Twiggs County, burglary; and Henry Lewis Jackson, 22, of Macon, assault and battery.

Riverside Paper Co. Plans Multimillion-Dollar Project

Program Includes Development Of East Side Industrial Park

Riverside Paper Corp. announced a multimillion-dollar modernization and expansion program this morning, involving development of Riverside's 35-acre private industrial park in Appleton's far east side and modernization and expansion of the company's existing facilities in the industrial flats along the Fox River.

The long-rumored announcement was made by Timothy C. Catlin, chairman of the board, and Harry G. Davis, president, following a meeting of Riverside's board of directors.

The announcement states that Riverside has awarded a contract to C. R. Meyer and Sons Co., Oshkosh, to begin immediate construction of a 350 by 327 foot factory building with an attached 40 by 100-foot office building. The complex will be built facing the new Kensington Drive extension from Newberry Street, authorized by the Appleton Council on April 5. A second contract has been awarded to C. R. Meyer for a major rebuilding of the existing beater room at the industrial flats location.

Single Story
The new Kensington Drive plant will be of single story

construction and will contain a single unobstructed manufacturing area larger than two football fields placed side by side. The facility will house the company's fine paper finishing and school paper divisions, which will be combined into a single new division of the corporation. The move from the present industrial flats location will be made upon completion of the new facility late this fall.

It was emphasized that the present program is only the first phase of a large program which involves a complete re-

Cleveland Struck Hard By Violence

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Young rowdies put extra police to work Sunday night in Cleveland's east side Negro area with a rash of rock-throwing, window smashing and looting that lasted about three hours. There were at least 20 arrests.

"There were no injuries and no fire bombings," said Lt. Wilmer Kutina of the Fifth District. In that district last July rioting started in the slum Hough area and led to four shooting deaths and a half-million dollars property damage, much of it from fire bombs.

Arrests for Looting
Kutina said there were 18 arrests in his district and adjoining districts reported two others as a result of the disturbances. Police said nearly all the arrests were in connection with looting by young Negro men operating in small groups.

One injury not reported to police was minor — a fireman hit by a thrown bottle while on

Military Fails In Ghana Coup

President Ankrah Reportedly Still Heads Government

AFRLO, Ghana (AP) — A group of young army officers attempted a coup d'etat in Accra today, radio Ghana said, but the attempt apparently fell apart.

Travelers interviewed at this village near the Togo frontier told of hearing shots fired in Accra early this morning at Christianborg Castle, residence of Gen. Joseph Ankrah. Ankrah became president after a coup in February 1966, which ousted President Kwame Nkrumah.

Two armored vehicles were reported by travelers to have been seen near Flagstaff House, residence of Gen. Emmanuel Kotoka, commander of Ghana's armed forces. Kotoka led the coup against Nkrumah.

Ghana radio first announced the young officers had taken power and military music was played. About mid-day, the music stopped, there was an appeal for calm, and an announcement that everything had returned to normal was made.

Meeting of Kiesinger, Stoph Among Steps in Cooperation

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht today proposed an unprecedented meeting between West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and East German Premier Willi Stoph to discuss first steps toward cooperation between the two Germanies.

Ulbricht told the televised opening session of the East German Communist Party's Seventh Congress that Kiesinger and Stoph should discuss recognition of existing borders, disarmament of both Germanies and mutual renunciation of nuclear weapons. All are old Communist objectives.

West Germany does not recognize East Germany and contends that the border question can be settled only by a peace treaty to be signed with the victorious World War II allies.

The congress opened with delegations from Red China, Albania and Cuba apparently missing. Those nations weren't mentioned when politburo member Herman Axen read a list of 63 delegations to the Congress.

Ulbricht also said East Germany is ready, "with agreement of the Soviet Union, to conclude regular state treaties with the United States, England and France over civil air traffic to and from West Berlin as well as over the traffic and use of trains of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

The Western allies, who also do not recognize Ulbricht's regime, hold the Soviet Union responsible for matters concerning East Germany.

Ulbricht repeated the East German claim that West Berlin is a special political territory and lies on the territory of East Germany.

"Under no circumstances," he said, "will West Berlin ever belong to West Germany. We are ready, however, in agreement with the Soviet Union, to give West Berlin an independent status by treaty. We also are ready to permit on the basis of appropriate treaties the use of the transit ways of the German Democratic Republic for (such) a special West Berlin political unit."

Integration Not Goal, Meredith Says in Kenosha

KENOSHA (AP) — Prominent civil rights figure James Meredith, harassed by pickets and by the elements, spoke to some 700 persons at Carthage College Sunday and told them the goal of the American Negro should cease to be integration.

Meredith said integration is like segregation in that it merely prolongs white control of the society.

"What we need in this country is not an integrated society but a single society," said Meredith.

Prior to Meredith's 45-minute talk, nine pickets claiming to belong to the American Nazi Party paraded at the entrance of the school. There were no incidents.

Meredith said it was the first time anywhere in the U.S. that he had been picketed.

His speech was interrupted for a brief time by heavy rain and hail which pounded on the roof of the auditorium and gymnasium where he was speaking. The noise made it impossible for the audience to hear.

Speck's Attorney Prepares Appeal

Peoria Jury Answered 'Who?' But Not 'Why?' or 'How?'

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The question of who murdered eight nurses in a Chicago townhouse last summer apparently was resolved when a jury convicted Richard Speck Saturday and recommended that he die in the electric chair.

But the questions of why the eight nurses were chosen as the knife-wielding stranger's victims and why eight young women quietly submitted to being tied, robbed, separated and slain may never be answered.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen scheduled post-trial motions for today. Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who represents Speck, will file a motion for an appeal. State law requires all death verdicts to be appealed.

Getty told newsmen Sunday he planned to base his appeal on the prosecution's use of "horror pictures" of the slain girls, which he said were shown to inflame the jurors. He also said he would argue that Speck, 25, could not receive a fair trial in Peoria due to public prejudice.

'Anyone Else'
"With any other defendant, and with only one victim, there would have been an acquittal. There certainly wouldn't have been a death penalty," said Getty, who has never lost a client to the electric chair in 400 other capital cases.

Speck, who appeared unmoved by the eight verdicts recommending he die for the July 14 slayings, was to return to Cook County jail today, said Peoria County Sheriff Willard Koepfel.

A Cook county jail psychiatrist, who interviewed Speck 24 times over a six-month period, ascertained that the drifter-merchant seaman recalled nothing of the night of the slayings.

According to notes taken by Dr. Marvin Ziporyn and released Saturday, Speck related he was drunk and had taken a

Proof of Identity
In nine days of testimony, the prosecution produced fingerprint experts to prove a print lifted from a door in the townhouse bedroom belonged to Speck. Miss Corazon Amurao, a Philippine nurse who hid under a bed as the killer worked, identified Speck as the black-garbed intruder who herded the victims into a bedroom before he killed them one by one in four other rooms.

But the state did not indicate why the eight girls, all students at the South Chicago Community Hospital, were killed. Miss Amurao said the intruder wanted money to go to New Orleans and the girls gave him money. Other witnesses said Speck had talked of going to New Orleans.

The survivor said the killer made the girls sit on the floor, then counted them, "one, two, three, four, five, six. . . ." Did the killer know eight girls resided there? And when Mary Ann Jordan came to spend the night, did the killer miscount and therefore forget Miss Amurao.

'Are You the Girl?'
The killer was quoted by Miss Amurao as saying to one victim, Patricia Matusek, "Are you the girl in the yellow dress?" Had he seen Miss Matusek before he awakened her July 13?

Miss Amurao testified that she and two other Philippine nurses ran to a closet shortly after the killer entered. They remained there five minutes before they were persuaded to come out by one of their roommates who said, "Don't be afraid. He won't hurt us."

Had any of the victims known the killer or seen him loitering in the neighborhood?

No One Screamed
Why did Corazon Amurao escape? She was the first girl the killer encountered that night. Miss Amurao answered four knocks of her bedroom door. The light was on in the bedroom but the methodical killer who sliced strips of a bedsheet and double-knotted the bonds on the girls' ankles and wrists somehow forgot Miss Amurao.

Why did not the girls, watching as their friends were led one by one to their deaths, attempt to scream in unison to alert a neighbor? Why didn't they attack the intruder?

Miss Amurao told how the killer led two girls downstairs to answer a doorbell, leaving five girls upstairs. Four girls were tied hand and foot. But one girl's hands were free. Why didn't she free herself, and the others? Did the girls suggest it, or was it inconceivable to eight young women — preparing to dedicate their lives to helping others — that one man come in one night and strangle and stab until all were dead?

Stokely Terminates Growers' Contracts

Release of Pea Farmers Result Of Breakdown in Labor Contract

"Cash crop" farmers in east-central Wisconsin, including the Appleton area, have been released from their 1967 pea growing contracts with Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., according to a letter from V. E. Quakenbush, manager of the Appleton plant. The contract release follows a breakdown April 7 in contract negotiations between the canning firm and local unions representing workers at 12 Wisconsin plants, one in Michigan and one in Minnesota.

"If this labor dispute is not resolved before harvest time," the letter said, "we will be unable to purchase and process your crop, with resulting loss to you."

"In view of this," Quakenbush told the farmers, "we believe it would be unfair to expect you to plant your crop and hereby release you from your contract so that you may produce other crops on your land."

Sent to Growers

The letter was sent to growers in areas which include Appleton, Beaver Dam, Columbus, Horicon and Plymouth. All Stokely's plants in Wisconsin were shut down the afternoon of April 7 after company spokesman blamed Teamster local unions for refusal to bargain.

Union officials denied the charge, saying labor agreements with the company have never been completed prior to planting of the pea crop.

The company's contracts with growers include a providential release clause which provides that either party to the contract is relieved of its obligation when unable to perform due to various causes, including strikes and lockouts.

New Agreement

Quakenbush said growers will be contacted immediately if a new labor agreement is reached to determine if the land remains unplanted and to discuss possible reinstatement of the grower contracts.

Stokely-Van Camp reportedly has contracts for about 4,500 acres in the area. Approximately 3,500 acres would be used for growing peas with the remaining acreage being used for beets.

Approximately 160 farmers reportedly grow pea or beet crops for the Appleton plant.

Latest bargaining agreements between the unions and the company, which has headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., expired Feb. 28.

Merger of Trinity Evangelical United Brethren Church, upper, and First Methodist Church has been approved by both New London congregations. The new church will be called United Methodist Church of New London. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Approve Meter Testing Equipment for Shiocton

Proposed System Will Keep Accurate Record on Cards, Village Board Informed

SHIOCTON — The purchase of water meter testing equipment and accompanying card filing system for the village was approved at a recent meeting of the board.

With this system it will be easier to efficiently test and keep accurate records.

Approval was also given to the business league to establish a docking area on the east bank of the Wolf River on the village-owned lot lying between the Nolan building and the post office.

In other business the board ruled that burning garbage in backyards is a violation of the Shiocton ordinance and further practice will result in arrest and fines.

In regard to the village's mounting dog problem Police Chief Raymond Muskavitch was directed to obtain a key to the warehouse, west of the disposal plant, where dogs may be quartered overnight.

Muskavitch also informed the board that during the month of March 9 arrests were made, 12 warnings and 2 parking tickets issued, 10 complaints checked and 5 accidents investigated.

The board also directed the street committee to meet with Marvin Oby, superintendent of schools, to work out a proper loading procedure for the Shiocton system bus transportation.

New Undersheriff Pay Plan Drafted by Law Committee

Proposal Would Place Post On Straight Salary Schedule

The Outagamie County undersheriff would be taken from the pay grade plan and placed under a straight salary plan if a recommendation of the county board's law enforcement committee wins approval.

The committee Friday afternoon approved a three-part proposal for submission to the county board's executive committee Supv. George Greisch of Appleton, law enforcement unit chairman, authored the major portion of the plan which is aimed at solving a 3½ month salary feud between the county and Undersheriff Calvin Spice.

The proposal, which probably will not reach the executive committee until late this month or early in May, would take the undersheriff pay from the county grade system, would allow the executive committee to set an individual "straight" salary for Spice, and would allow the same unit to set salaries of any future undersheriff appointees.

Sought Recommendation

Although Greisch thought the law enforcement committee should recommend a salary for Spice, the other four committee members disagreed, saying that should be the job of the executive unit. There was no salary figure openly mentioned.

Spice now draws $577 a month, the lowest pay possible under grade 19. He was placed at that level after being designated Jan. 4 by the executive committee as a new employee.

The action was taken because the executive committee said Spice was sheriff four years before becoming undersheriff, therefore was not really a county employee, but rather an elected official.

Much Experience

Spice was a Kaukauna patrolman and an Outagamie County traffic policeman for many years before being elected sheriff in 1963.

The maximum monthly pay allowed under grade 19 is $732. Although the next step in the salary dispute will be up to the executive committee, the final word will come from the county board, according to Board Chairman Sylvester Esler.

New London Pair Will be Tried on Morals Charges

WAUPACA — A 24-year-old New London man and an 18-year-old rural New London girl were bound over to Waupaca County Court for trial on charges of lewd and lascivious behavior when they were arraigned before Municipal Justice George Whalen Saturday.

Bruce L. Mesheke, 22, 1614 Nassau St., and Linda M. Millard, 18, route 1, were arrested by Weyauwega police Friday night after they allegedly registered at the Weyauwega hotel as man and wife.

Miss Millard was released to the custody of her mother and Mesheke is being held in the Waupaca County jail in lieu of a $500 bond.

Holy Name In Calumet Plans Activities

Summer Outing Set For Teaching Nuns; Consider Holy Hour

STOCKBRIDGE — Calumet County Holy Name Deanery made tentative plans for its summer and fall activities when representatives of the county parishes met at Holy Trinity parish hall, Jericho, Wednesday.

William Schneider, route 3, Chilton, was named chairman of the annual summer outing for all teaching nuns in the county. All Holy Name Societies in the deanery contribute to the cost of a day of sightseeing and recreation for the sisters.

The Holy Name Retreat at Chambers Island will be July 7-9. Those wishing to go may contact Ben Kern, Chilton, retreat chairman.

Results of the questionnaires sent each parish in Calumet County to ascertain how active the societies are showed little activity in the parishes. Calumet County was chosen to conduct the survey as a model for the Green Bay Diocese. The results were forwarded to the Rev. James Putman, diocesan director.

Holy Hour

The annual deanery corporate communion and breakfast was scheduled for October 8 at Holy Rosary, New Holstein.

1,000 at Outagamie Sausage Feed Told Farmers at Fault for Not Organizing; Warns of Depression

SHIOCTON — The federal government was bargaining for the other 95 per cent of the vote when it slapped an injunction against the National Farmers Organization (NFO) to prohibit picketing in the recent holding action, about 1,000 persons were told Saturday.

Erhard Pfingsten, Iowa, a national vice president of the NFO, spoke at the fourth annual Outagamie County sausage feed which more than 2,000 persons attended during the day.

Pfingsten, in a two-hour speech, emphasized that the farmer was to blame for his own predicament, for being unable to organize and bargain for the prices he believed he should get.

Predicts Depression

When the purchasing power of the farmer comes to an end, then 35 per cent of the working force will be put out of jobs, Pfingsten said. He said no industry can take a 15 per cent decrease in net sales for very long and remain in business.

Pfingsten said the country was ready for a revolution in the 1930's and the only thing that prevented it was that it was an election year. We would have elected a "yellow dog" that year if he had run, he said. The people could blame the man in the White House and this prevented open hostility, he added.

He pointed out the situation of other countries which had the same economic situation at the time and what happened in their countries. He specified Germany, Spain, Italy and Russia, where open revolts took place, or dictators assumed power.

Urges Fight

Pfingsten urged the farmer to, "Stand on your feet and defend your rights. Through a joint effort we can establish a fair price," he said. He said the milk plant is not worth a plugged nickel without your milk.

The farmer holds more power than industry and labor combined, because he has the one product people are unable to store enough of — food, Pfingsten said.

Pfingsten said the value of the farm dollar was enormous and widely felt through the economy. He said for each dollar the farmer is short-changed, the nation is eventually out $7 because of the purchasing power of the farmer.

Persons attending the sausage feed consumed a ton of sausage, made of 500 pounds of beef and 2,531 pounds of pork, which after processing amounted to about 8,000 separate links.

Also consumed were 2,000 rolls, 216 pounds of peas, 252 pounds of sauerkraut, 600 pounds of potatoes and 100 pounds of baked beans.

Calumet, Winnebago Youths to Meet Teens Will Probe Huge Problems

FOND DU LAC — A big group of teen-agers will sit down here next week to serious search for solutions to the problems that plague their generation — drinking, pre-marital sex, juvenile delinquency.

If it works they may spread their movement throughout the Fox Valley.

In four workshop sessions, over 200 youths will sit down to discuss possible solutions to these problems on Friday and Saturday.

Named "Operation Teen-ager" after a movie that depicts how four prison inmates went wrong, the conclave will be the first step in organizing meetings throughout the six-county area.

James Chamberlain, president of the Fond du Lac Youth Council, explained that this meeting will be entirely teen-agers because in previous meetings adults have been involved and nothing results so the teens are going to give it a try on their own.

This also marks the first time that three youth groups, The Youth Council, Fond du Lac Union Youth and District No. 4, Wisconsin Youth Committee, will sponsor a youth meeting.

Valley-Wide Effort

"We hope that this will get things going for more cooperative efforts," Chamberlain said. Films will be the prime media used for the workshops.

In addition to "Operation Teen-ager" a film, "Webster's Grove" will be shown. This depicts the real community problems of a city in Kansas with emphasis on the youth problems.

In addition, the meeting will also be an effort to get a united youth effort going in the greater Fox River Valley.

Fox River Valley Chamberlain explained that the group will be divided into four sections, so that each will have a chance to take part in each workshop.

Scheduled for Woodworth Junior High School, there will be two workshops on Saturday morning and another two in the afternoon.

A representative of Alcoholics Anonymous will be on hand to speak at the drinking seminar, he said.

"We hope that what is learned in the workshops will inspire the kids to go back to their own communities and start action programs what will get to the bottom of the youth problems," he said.

Counties represented will be Winnebago, Washington, Sheboygan, Ozaukee, Calumet, Manitowoc and Fond du Lac.
